Welcome to the greatest but the toughest One Loft Race in the UK & Ireland.

The race is run by a family of pigeon fanciers and was formed in 2013, the loft manager is Gary Tomlinson assisted by his wife of 36 years Annette Tomlinson and the third member of the team is Robert Tomlinson their son, the team pride themselves on getting results but to achieve this the team have to give 100% everyday, many entrants have entered birds in this race for 5 years now so it is clear to see that the team work hard for the fanciers.

Race Details

The Ultimate In One Loft Racing!

The loft is situated in Blackbrook a small village located in the heart of Derbyshire, the loft is 210 ft. long and has 21 x 10 ft. sections which are identical there is an aviary to the front of the loft which is very important, the loft was expertly built and erected by Matt Fretwell of Ecco Lofts.

The race is sponsored by Vanrobaeys and Astbury Pigeon Supplies, these two companies have sponsored the race since it was founded and are very committed to supplying the best feed and supplements available.

The race is open to everyone, the loft is open for entries from 10th February and closes on the 20th April each year. The cost to enter is £500 for a team of 3 birds and all the birds are activated, there is no restriction on how many teams each fancier can enter, since the race was formed over £340,000 has been paid out in Prize Money.

The race series consists of 5 hot spot races and then the final from Elgin in Scotland, the birds are convoyed by Who Dares Wins and the birds are liberated on their own to produce a true champion, they do-not use any outside convoyers and are not transported by any other organisation. When the race series is over the birds are then auctioned off on this web site with the fancier/owner receiving 50% of the monies their bird is sold for.

SORRY

Sorry you can't ask Tommo... Sorry to say that AskTommo.com is no longer active for the reason it was created but I'm glad you have ignored "Tommo" who has told some people not to bother coming here as it's "Bulls*" (He probably just wants to minimise the amount of people seeing the real "Tommo" and his family.

Unfortunately Gary "Tommo" Tomlinson thinks its ok for me to work hundreds of hours for him and not get paid for it. He also thinks its ok for me to not receive the 50% of the DVD / Online videos we produced together as we both agreed.

He "told" me that I no longer own the DVDs (which I half paid for) and I own the online version of the video. As a result of his bully boy tactics I decided I would give away the online version of the video, you can view it here. – Mark Lyford

Seeing as you are already here... Read and watch some more about "Tommo" and his family and what he and they are really like.

Blackpool Hotels Full Of Refugees? Tommo thinks they maybe.

(Still using unpaid for work in his videos.)

21st December 2021

Tommo made a comment on his Monday night Tommo show that asked the question why there are no hotels being advertised for Blackpool show weekend.

One of his theories is that maybe they are full of refugees...

This represents the truly low level of this man in my opinion. The man has no compassion for others. I despair that a man like this has a voice online representing our great pigeon sport. Rest assured he does not speak for us all.

My response to his solicitors letter below. 21st December 2021

Our Ref: TO FOLLOW

14 December 2021

By Email: (mark@lyfordoffice.com)

Dear Mr Lyford

OUR CLIENT: WHO DARES WINS (ALFRETON) LTD

We are instructed by Who Dares Wins (Alfreton) Ltd, who previously engaged you in a design capacity. We are instructed to deal with the dispute which appears to have arisen between your respective companies, and are aware that you have sent a number of communications to Mr Tomlinson of our client asserting that you or your company own certain intellectual property rights and asserting that our client needs to cease use of the items which you designed for it.

This is my response to this B.S.:

Dear Mr Wood,

Please be advised that your client Mr Tomlinson is lying to you.

He has not paid any money for my work and therefore doesn't own any of the copyright.

Your client failed to settle a lengthy dispute with me regarding this work and as such does not own any of the work I completed for him.

Your client didn't even pay me for the promotional roller banners I purchased on his behalf.

So with this in mind your client has no claims to anything I previously did for him in good faith.

He will be unable to provide any payments related to this work by bank transfer as he did not make any.

You will see from the original agreement my payment for this work was to be 30 entries into his race. He refused to allow those entries into the race. Neither has he paid me separately for the work done.

14th December 2021

So it seems Tommo doesn't understand the idea of a cease and desist letter. Instead of him stopping using my work which is unpaid for he now is demanding via a solicitor that I stop using his work.

Today I got a letter demanding many things including I pay his fees of £750! lol

Instead of stopping using work which he never paid for he is now lying to solicitors about paying me!

The full letter written on his behalf can be viewed here.

Your client has also used my logos and names in his promotional materials as previously supplied to him in various cease and desist letters sent to him last week. Something he has no right to do.

In full disclosure your client has provided major upset and harassment to my family and I for the last two years now all of which is documented on the website asktommo.com

So with respect, I deny any of the claims your client makes and would suggest actually it is your client that owes me many thousands of pounds.

So to confirm I refuse to do any of the 4 next steps your outline in your letter to me and would suggest your client gets his facts right instead.

Yours faithfully,

Mark Lyford

This was the video where he is still using my unpaid for work in the background and he made a point of saying people were confused about the race.

Oh The Irony... Tommo Deleting Posts Again..

10th December 2021

Tommo posted about how he thinks "Mick" the winner of this years WDW race is the best one loft race pigeon in the world.

He started to get a slating on the thread so he deleted it before he has time to reply to people.

But before he deleted it he proclaimed that he and Mrs Tomlinson "think pigeon people are very strange indeed."

Oh the irony....

And no, he didn't want to reply to Maurice's question...

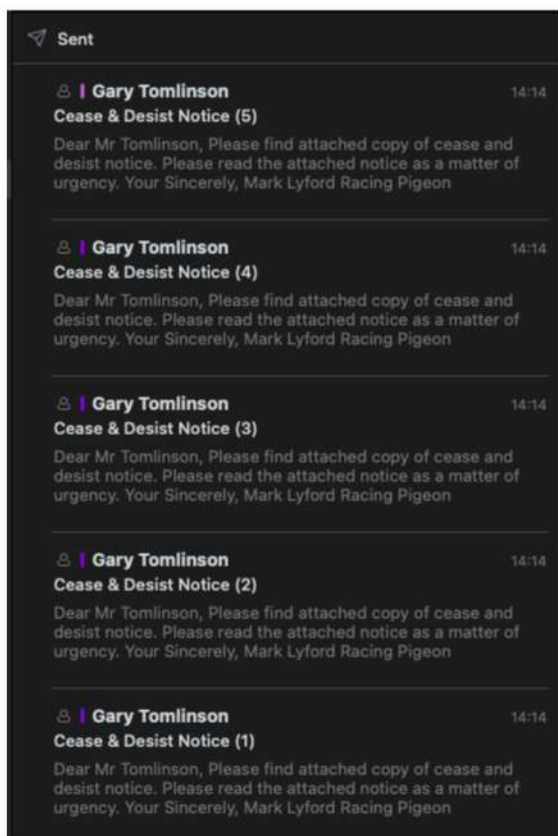

Cease & Desist

10th December 2021 – UPDATE

Instead of replying to my cease and desist orders like he should he has now chosen to start harassing another OLR who I have done work for. This guy really doesn't get it.

Tommo... If you are reading this, you need to respond to ME about how you are using my work which still remains unpaid and you need to STOP using it!

And stop harassing my clients (who paid me upfront for my work)...

6th December 2021

After seeing much of my work being used in the BHW and online I have sent cease and desist notices to Tomlinson by email and post today. None of the work, including but not limited to my RPI logo, my DVD design, the WDW logo and roller banner design are being used without permission and all of this work is unpaid for.

He has until the 13th December 2021 to respond and stop using my owned material.

Copies of the cease and desist notices are below:

C&D 1 – here

C&D 2 – here

C&D 3 – here

C&D 4 – here

C&D 5 – here

Let's hope he stops using unpaid for and copyrighted work.

Don't Pay Me £100's a year? Don't Enter My Race? You Have NO RIGHT to comment or have an opinion about me!

Gary Tomlinson. Who Dares Wins International One Lc

2nd November 2021

So if you watch this video you will hear that anyone who isn't in Tommo's race isn't allowed to voice any opinion on the race.

Someone who expressed an opinion online who said the returns of the WDW race were a lot lower than other races met Tommo at Epsom show and was physically threatened being told "They could go outside now and sort it out"

Tommo, the consummate professional. And people wonder why few people speak about him or his family in any negative way.

This is why. Express any negative opinion and you are threatened. Transparent to the core.

Gary Tomlinson. Who Dares Wins International One Lc

30th October 2021

The rumour is I hacked the WDW Auction site, and got 600,000 people to visit it. Total rubbish.

The REAL reason the site crashed is it couldn't handle the traffic. Technically it's near impossible to hack or DDOS his auction site because it's protected by CloudFlare who run a system to prevent such things.

However, he still insists it was me. After all, it's far easier to blame someone else for your failings than just admit the site couldn't handle the traffic.

Apparently he has "proof" that the site was attacked. We await to see this proof. In the meantime, see the video excuse.

One last try? I should have known better.

26th October 2021

In retrospect it was a stupid idea. Either way I decided to try and finish outstanding issues between us. This didn't mean I accept or forgive the actions of Tommo and his family towards my family and I but sometime even "enemies" can sometime agree to disagree and move on. This was my intention with the email I sent to Tommo on the 19th October 2021. Life is too short for continuing issues like this to be going on and my life and direction on things I'm working on are changing going into next year. And life I said in the email, life is too short for hassle.

I received no reply from him.

This is the third time in 18 months I have tried to resolve outstanding issues between us. It will be the very last time.

The mans ego is way too big and his attitude is way too neanderthal to ever want to resolve issues I guess.

Enough is enough with this situation. It's a shame, as part of my reasoning for trying to resolve issues was that as we are coming up to show season we will be in the same places as each other. This is of no concern to me, but far from ideal for my son Zandie who still has major issues about our experiences with the Tomlinson family.

I tried and that is that. No more trying. Im done with trying. So be it.

Mark Lyford

> To: Gary Tomlinson

Gary,

First of all, for the avoidance of doubt let me first of all say I had nothing to do with what ever issues you had with the auction site during the first sale. You can chose to believe me that is up to you. But just know this, it was nothing to do with me.

Despite what we may think of each other I'm writing this email to reach out to you and try and put the past behind us both.

We both know life is too short for this kind of shit, and while I still have major issues with things between us in the past, it is just that, the past.

Depending on what you say and think I have no interest in continuing with those issues moving into the future.

It's up to you Gary, if you would like to speak to me to resolve, once and for all our issues and move on, then I'm up for that.

This doesn't mean I forget the past 18 months , it just means my life is busy enough and my direction is changing and to be honest I don't need the hassle and I'm sure you don't want it either. Like I say, life's too short.

If you want to talk about ending our differences and moving on to where neither of us has to think about each other in anyway, I'm open to discussing it and figuring it out so we can both get on with more important things.

It's up to you Gary, This is meant to be a well intentioned olive branch message to you, I will leave it up to you.

Mark

Will The REAL Pierre Leclerc (AKA Tommo) Please stand up!?!

So it seems like Tommo has now gone all continental. He once again bid on the winner of the race, knowing what the maximum bids from other people were, while only having to pay half the total amount, we know about this from last years experiences of the WDW auction. However for another little twist this year Tommo decided to bid on his own auction under a false name.

Pierre Leclerc was the winner of the £12,025 WDW winner and it turned out 24 hours later that Tommo declared he had won the pigeon. The epitome of above board, honest, open and transparent once again....

RPRA Appeal and Final Results. (A total whitewash and joke.)

The long awaited outcome of my RPRA hearing against Tomlinson was a total whitewash. I went along the Derbyshire meeting on 22nd of June and after a bunch of lies from Tomlinson, whilst also feeling silenced and being told I was unable to mention any legal issues I had with him this happened.

Yes, I was to get a sever reprimand for ungentlemanly conduct and for bringing the sport into disrepute. AND I was told I was unable to talk about it on social media or any other means.

I was not able to talk about unresolved business contracts or anything. The same contracts the regional meeting said were of no concern to them.

Have the Derbyshire members ever heard of freedom of speech? I guess not.

After asking them to confirm that non of the three issues I had brought to the RPRA against Tomlinson were to be judged on I was told that that was their decision and that was it.

So then on to the main council appeal.

A month or so later the hearing was re heard, at this time the Derbyshire RPRA representative Steve Reed joined Tommo at the meeting. My son had decided this time he would be my witness but very quickly Mr Reed who was sitting right next to Tommo said it wasnt allowed as he wasn't a witness previously.

I promptly asked in what capacity Mr Reed was attending the meeting and sitting on the same table as Tommo. He said he was representing the region. He was swiftly told he was only there as a witness to confirm any previous meetings happenings and asked to sit at the back.

The conclusion. A total waste of time. After deliberation the council members decided it was a civil matter and the RPRA could not get involved. Plus the regional meeting decision was not in effect.

So my freedom of speech is restored but Tommo still has 7 birds that are my sons and the other issues not addresses.

Like I said a total waste of time and whitewash.

Tommo clearly loved the outcome.

However, I note during both meetings he called this AskTommo.com site "illegal" I'm still waiting to receive legal notice of his issues with this site.

Dear Mr Lyford

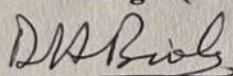

I am writing to you to confirm, that following the Appeals meeting held on 22nd June 2021 which you attended it was the Region Committees decision that

" A severe reprimand for both parties for ungentlemanly conduct and for bringing the sport into disrepute. Part of the reprimand is that both parties must refrain from discussing any details on social media or by any other means. This includes any matters unresolved as part of their business contracts, or any dispute they may have between each other on any pigeon related matter. Should either party break the reprimand conditions then further action will be taken by this Region."

You have 21 days from the meeting date to appeal this decision to the Council Appeals Committee.

Yours Sincerely

D.H. Bridges (Region Secretary)

The 2021 WDW race "lottery" odds just got bigger. Is Tommo for real?

25th April 2021

When you enter a one loft race like Who Dares Wins ran by Gary Tomlinson and are told the maximum entry for that years race is 1500 pigeons you expect it to be 1500 pigeons.

Imagine paying your £500 to enter 3 birds thinking you have a 1 in 500 chance of winning you know the lottery odds.

Many times "Tommo" has repeated that the maximum birdage for 2021 is 1500. However it now seems that has changed. He has publicly stated there are "over 1800 pigeons in the lofts" since he has closed entries and Benzing online is shows there are 1861 pigeons in the lofts.

Be sure to start your journey of discovery about the real Gary Tomlinson, his family and his Who Dares Wins One Loft Race.

Scroll down to the bottom of this page and see for yourself what this man is like.

More Police Action? This is beyond a joke now.

How can this be fair?

So with over 1800 pigeons in the loft that's another £50,000 worth of entries in his bank account. 20% more pigeons than he said would be in the lofts to compete against. Surely you would expect the prize money to be increased by 20%? After all he is the man of honesty, integrity and transparency right? But no, the prize money is still £103,000 total. So another £50,000 worth of entry money into his pocket instead which sets him up to have a bumper profit year of over £150,000.

Now he will say that the extra entries are because he had to give free entries to people due to losing so many birds before training commenced last year. But over 300 free entries? Really?

And surely those free entries should be counted into the total 1500 entries? It appears not as this would obviously effect the profits of the 2021 race, something that could never be allowed to happen.

So now if you have one bird in the race you have a 0.053735% chance of winning instead of a 0.066667% chance of winning, 20% more odds stacked against you. But that's fair right?

I really don't know how Gary Tomlinson continues to get away with pulling these money grabbing, sleazy things. His hardcore fan base can't be that blinded by his bullshit can they?

Hopefully people outside of his little fan base will realise what the guy is really like.

Let's see how many of the 1861 pigeons this master pigeon racer and guru gets to the final this year. Hopefully more than the artificial 26% he got to 2020's final (Don't know what I'm talking about, read one, 50 birds miraculously appeared for the final, which put him from 23% to 26% of entries to the final which at the time put him over the FCI's minimum requirements, an organisation he no longer belongs to as he was the first race in FCI history to withdraw himself from the organisation.)

Remember though. This "man" is not in it for the money, the extra £10,000's of income is not what he does this for. He does it for the love of the sport and to help people.....

I'll await another call from the police for further accusations of harassment from him for making people aware of what he is really like.

(I'm still waiting for my RPRA hearing date too, patience... Good things come to those who wait and won't be intimate or bullied in anyway. So I will keep waiting.)

7th April 2021.

I received another phone call from Leicestershire police this morning. "Tommo" is continuing to try to use the police to intimidate and bully me. After his first attempt (see this page below) to have the police charge me with harassment relating to this site he is clearly not happy and once again has tried to take them to take action. As I said in the call to them, They are not taking any action. Listen to the call with them below.

This mornings call from the police

While he continues to refuse a virtual RPRA hearing he continues to do these kinds of things. Like I say, this is beyond a joke now.

How many pulled out exactly?

Someone sent me this from Facebook earlier:

Due to a few people dropping out due to personal circumstances with the pandemic situation/ a few teams have become available, these will be on first come first serve basis. Please message me, with only 6 weeks to go before loft closes Gary cant afford for anymore people dropping out, so a £200 deposit will be payable now please. (£500 for team of 3 all activated) lofts open till 24th April. £103,000 total prize money. £40,000 1st prize in final. Lots were saying they missed out, or were turned away because lofts were full. So here is your final chance guys. Message me to sort 😊.

According to the self proclaimed "Mr transparent Tommo" his race was sold out in 7 weeks this year. (Great publicity and marketing?) But as some may have expected some teams have now "pulled out." Covid, financial issues etc... We get it, times are hard at the moment. But exactly how many teams have pulled out of the race and how many spaces are available?

If "Gary cant afford for anymore people dropping out" the amount must be quite high right? After all with 1500 entries the man stands to make over £125,000 this year... (But it's not about he money)

I'm sure Mr transparent will say exactly how many entries are available in the race on tonights show. After all that would be the most transparent thing to do right? At least hopefully participants who were disappointed to not be able to get in previously will know if they have a chance of competing now..

More wrong facts, lies and disguised intimidation from "Tommo" to others?

I saw this posted by Zandie and I's friend Andy Pereira.

Andy became our friend when he saw what Tomlinson had been doing last year and sent Zandie some amazing young birds for him to race. Those birds are going into his old bird team this season. Andy is a true gent. (And someone who you can't bully or intimidate.) Below is the post in question by Andy and as you can see WDW, Tomlinson or his family were NEVER mentioned. Another example of Tommo's nice and caring side.

Been watching some videos on these small pigeon studs. seen more vitality in a packet of jelly baby's. even my white release birds have fantastic vitality in and around the loft.

Given that Tommo is now a philanthropist and charity fund raiser I'm sure he will take Andy up on his offer of donating £500 to Andy's choice of charity.

The GARY show, He really does need to get his facts in order. I never mentioned him in any way on any of my posts why would I don't like the man, had dealings with him some years ago when he owned G&R couriers. the man puts over that he's such a nice caring person REALLY. Further more if you can show me where I have mentioned you your family your OLR on open forum connected to your post ill give £500 to the charity of your choice, but if not you donate the same to a charity I Hate, lies, friends, honesty, crooks, con men, blackmail and demands?

Gary Tomlinson

JP we know exactly where you're coming from, wait until they build a hate website about you and your business, totally illegal full of lies which we can prove but the police don't want to get involved, we have to put up with these lies and shit being thrown at us every day by a certain family. It's a good job we have so many friends who really know what we are like as a family, honesty will always prevail, crooks and con men will never win, a lesser family would have given into the blackmail and demands.

RPRA Hearing Update

2nd January 2021.

Today 'should' have been the day of the hearing against G&A Tomlinson, however a few days ago I was informed that the meeting has once again been cancelled due to the covid situation.

To say I was disappointed was an understatement, after all I have been waiting to get this RPRA hearing finally done since April 2020.

The email stated:

"Morning Mark,

Sorry to have to inform you but the meetings which were to be held on Saturday have been cancelled, G & A Tomlinson have declined to take part by zoom and also due to the fact that the RPRA have postponed their AGM until it can be held in the normal manner.

Also I have learnt that the General meeting agenda was posted on the internet by yourself I presume, General meetings of the Region are for Region Committee members only plus appellants when necessary."

So there you have it, another waiting game. who knows how long this will take until I can finally get "Tommo" in front of the RPRA.

A few points about the above. I have NEVER posted any meeting agenda online, I have only ever posted the new date of the RPRA hearing(s) on here.

The main point that got me thinking was the "G&A Tomlinson have declined to take part by zoom."

Why on earth would Tommo decline to have the RPRA hearing done via online video instead? Surely he is as eager to get these matters dealt with as quickly as possible as I am?

Then I thought:

Maybe he doesn't have the technical knowledge to operate zoom? – Surely not, he's a video live streaming legend now, since working with me and getting all my knowledge and marketing for free, he is the king of online video. So that can't be.

Maybe he wants to see me face to face again in the same room, so he can try to intimidate me and stress my son out even more? – Surely not, he's not stupid enough to think he can intimidate me any more? Nahh, that can't be it.

Maybe he wants to keep breeding as many young birds for the 7 pigeons he still owes my son? Maybe, but surely not, he's got loads of pigeons in his new stud now, surely he's not relying on having those 7 birds still?

Maybe he needs to be live in person in a room and use his charisma and charm to win over the RPRA members? Maybe that's it, maybe he's worried being online won't show his man of the people caring nature who only cares about the pigeon sport, isn't in the sport for money at all and he wouldn't get that over enough online...

Maybe he's worried about me recording the zoom meeting? and letting people who can't attend in person see the whole thing. After all we know he hates people hearing about things he doesn't want people to know about online..

Maybe he figures he will string this thing long enough so he makes sure he pulls in another £250,000 in 2021 from his race before any RPRA hearing happens? (covid is his helper you know, and realistically this hearing may not happen for 4-5 months) by which time his "sold out" race for 2021 will have netted him another £100k+. Maybe..

Maybe he needs to gather more support from people and keep demonstrating what a nice guy he really is, after all we know he thinks (because he keeps telling everyone who will listen that I'm just a con man who keeps putting everything up he doesn't want his loyal fans to know about?

Maybe he will explain why he doesn't want to conclude this hearing online during his Monday night shows? No, come on Mark, you know he has never mentioned anything about the RPRA hearing or this website on his shows. It will never happen. Only good positive Tommo related news on his 'show.' So that won't happen..

Or Maybe he's just being as difficult as he can, using this as another subtle control play to keep things with this horrible excuse for a man going for my family and I and gets a kick out of playing games and not having to face the music. That's probably it. He has very few more cards to play in this whole sorry situation and this is another way he can still feel in control for a bit longer.

For the record I am totally up to get the RPRA hearing done via video conference anytime and day as I would like it for my family and I not to have to have this man feature as any part of our lives in 2021. 2020 was partly dominated by this bullying excuse for a pigeon man. Him deciding not to pay me a penny is one thing, but some of the tricks he has tried to pull in the last 9 months are to a new level of pathetic. The stress he has caused my 17 year old son Zandie and my partner Gabi is off the scale. I don't want 2021 to be the same.

Saying that despite his best efforts this site WILL NOT come down. You see, it's no longer anything to do with the money he conned me out of, We are way past that, if it makes him feel better about himself he can keep the £5,000 he owes me. (The 7 pigeons he owes my son are a different matter, you do something against my son and it's a different) To be honest though I would rather Gary gives my son the £880 I paid on his behalf for the 7 pigeons now. Zandie doesn't want them and who knows how many "venture birds" have been bred out of them since we brought them in November 2019. The £880 would be much better spent in his racing and looking after the great pigeons he has got from the lovely proper pigeon people he has since met.

So to be clear this RPRA hearing is about bring G&A Tomlinson to account for their despicable behaviour as outlined on this website, the attempted fraud of transferring pigeons into his name without my permission etc and the terrible behaviour of A Tomlinson against my son back in June last year. Yes, Tommo knows lots of people around these parts, and yes it may go against me (although I feel strongly with all the evidence I have he should be suspended or banned from the RPRA) but either way it needs to be done as this man is very used to people not standing up to him.. And like I have said many times before on this website, That will never happen. You can only be bullied if you allow yourself to be bullied and I refuse to be bullied by Tommo or his mates. Every dog has his day and trust me I will have my day in front of the RPRA to show them just what this "man" really is like. Hopefully, if this horrible covid situation des get better as many people will be at the hearing as possible to hear it too.

I will keep this site updated with any information I get as to when the RPRA hearing will finally happen.

During the last few weeks I have heard of very disturbing rumours about me and my past from "friends of Tommo" via third parties. It appears, after exhausting all his efforts he has resorted to spreading vile rumour about me and my past. It's a good job people who know me, people who really know me stand up to the horrible drivel being spilled out of Tommo's bullying mind to his followers and disciples and put them straight. All of this is being documented and will be submitted to the RPRA hearing to demonstrate what a bullying, horrible sick man Tommo really is.

It's sad that this hearing is once again delayed, ever more sad that it could be months and months until it actually happens. Not sad for me, I can wait. What I am sad for is for my son Zandie who was looking forward to this all being over with so he could get on with the new year of 2021 and look forward to concentrating purely on his pigeons and not having to think about pigeon sport bullies like Tommo.

Harassment?!? Tommo seems to think so...

26th November 2020.

I had a phone call from Leicestershire police asking me to attend an interview under caution in connection with accusations of harassment by Gary Tomlinson. No, this is not a joke. The "hard man" bully Tomlinson is now showing his true colours once again. It appears even bullies like him will try and use the police to help them in their bullying ways.

Harassment... According to the UK government the definition of harassment is "the legal definition of harassment also includes making "someone feel intimidated" by their personal comments. There are multiple definitions of harassment, but it occurs when an individual acts or says things towards another person with the intent to offend."

Ridiculous considering I haven't spoken to the man in over 6 months since trying to collect 7 pigeons he owns my son.

Now we know Tomlinson is in no way intimidated by me as he has said it many times, and if he is offended by the facts on this site maybe he should look at his and his families actions?

I will be only too pleased to provide the police with all the information on the deliberate attempts by Tomlinson to spread hate and untruths about me. I will also insist that this site will stay live and continue to provide information to people who care to look about the other side of Tomlinson and his family.

It's ironic that Leicestershire police chose not to speak to Tomlinson about the fire bombing of my car back in April yet seemingly want to act on BS allegations made by a bullying fool. Funny old life isn't it.

I'm going in to speak to the police tomorrow and am looking forward to the interview and will post an update here.

27th November - Police Interview Update.

I attended a police interview this morning. You can listen to the full unedited official police interview below. Apparently Tomlinson think this site is harassing and causing him and his family hurt and suffering and it's affecting his good name. I think it's a case of embarrassment that full facts and truths are published about him. After showing the police all the things Tomlinson has posted about me on social media I think it's even more ridiculous he has gone to the police to report this website.

Listen to the interview below. Nothing to hide here.

I will post an update here when I hear from the police.

10th December 2020 - No Further Action

I had a call from the police today to inform me there would be no further action taken with the accusations of harassment. Yet another attempt by bully boy Tomlinson to silence his detractors and people who actually stand up to him that didn't work.

This website will continue to stay online (It was always going to no matter what the outcome of any police action as a result of Tomlinson) and it will continue to highlight just what a horrible piece of work he and his family really are.

He's failed at trying to use the police in his quest to bully and intimidate me, Will this man one day learn that lying and thinking you can do what you want when you feel like it to people won't work? Maybe he will realise one day. Maybe not.

Gary Tomlinson / Who Dares Wins Race Auction 2020

The most transparent one loft race and online auction in the world!?

20th October 2020 – Tommo and his family pride themselves on "honesty, integrity and transparency" so with this in mind I'm sure they will be only too keen to clarify things. The auction seems to have been a success with 192 pigeons fetching over £46,000 and averaging £245 each and Tommo himself says some of the big bids "shocked him"

The transparency that Tommo keeps insisting that is the heart of the race and everything connected to it is now notorious as he keeps saying it on every Monday "show" he has. (They say imitation is the best form of flattery you know.)

Tommo Bidding on and winning birds.

It's a subjective opinion depending on who you speak to if you think that it's right and fair that Tommo buys birds at the WDW each year. Some people think it's his right to bid on pigeons and buy them. Others would say that it goes completely against the 'honesty, integrity and transparency' the family says it all about.

Personally, for what it's worth I see no major issues with him buying pigeons back from the race. (However there are some caveats to that opinion as you will see below.) Of course the cynic people out there could accuse Tommo of bidding on auction lots to just bid up birds and increase his cut of the profits. That's up to people individually to decide if Tommo ("A down to earth person who lives in the real world" would do such a thing. I have no facts or way of knowing if this happened and therefore wouldn't like to comment.

Tommo has publicly stated he purchased 10 pigeons from this year's auction and some great "bargains" he got too. (Remember he only actually has to pay half of the final sale price.)

Smart Business... Running your own auction..

Many people think it's just the sign of a smart business man to run your own auction site and not have to pay commission to other auction houses. Some people may question the decision however. Apart from the RPRA OLR (which is the most trusted and transparent race around) there are no other OLR's who run their own online auctions. Other companies or people do it for them. Having other companies run your final race auction is the ultimate transparency and if this were the case I am sure most people would have no issue with anyone, including Tommo bidding on birds.

Auto Bids

If you have ever bid on any pigeon website or easy for that matter you know about auto bids, they are a great time and stress saving feature of most auction sites.

The trouble is when the person bidding on pigeons also OWNS the auction site and has administration access either himself or via his tech guy and KNOWS what the maximum bids are from other people (information other bidders wouldn't know) he has a distinct advantage to know he WILL be able to get pigeons in the closing seconds without fear of being out bid. To me this is the most untransparent, dishonest and demonstrates a total lack of integrity. How can it be fair and an even playing field that the man who is bidding against you who is bidding or bidding you up also knows the maximum price you are prepared to pay and in 8 of the 10 lots he wins manages to get the lot for just £5 or £10 more than the other bidders? He knows their maximum bids... Auto bids. A great feature if you are bidding and running the auction site yourself.

Let's look at the 10 pigeons brought by Tommo.

Lot 3

Tommo started the bidding off himself at £50. Then he bid against numerous people over the course of 7 days. There is a bidder name "tn" who was very active over many lots in the auction, We have no way of knowing if this was Tomlinson or not. However the final day of this lot finishing came and another bidder bid £570 after Tommo's bid of £560. No other bids happened apart from Tommo Jnr's bid of £580. This bid happened a good few hours before the finish of the lot. Safe to know you are the highest bidder and no other auto bids have come in. £580 for a 3rd place OLR pigeon with good breeding and a snip when it only costs you £290 really.)

Lot 3 bidding history here

Original listing here \(if still live\)

Lot 4

Again on lot 4 you see the username "tn" bidding a lot on this auction. Tommo starts with his bidding at £630 and the bidding goes all the way up to £1500 when an auto bid is placed 9 minutes before the auction ends by someone. At the same time Tommo comes in with a bid of £1510. The £1500 bid by someone else was an auto bid. Tommo would have been able to see it was an auto bid and snatch the lot for just £10 more. Inside knowledge that you are going to not be beaten... That's fair right?

Lot 4 bidding history here

Original listing here \(if still live\)

Lot 23

With lot 23 Tommo comes in at £320 and gets the pigeon for £432. This lot was extended due to multiple bids in the last few minutes and Tommo put an auto bid on up to £400. Someone else comes in with an auto bid at £422 two minutes later. Tommo was able to see this was the other person's maximum and comes in for £10 more to get the pigeon for a bargain price of £432 (£216 out of his own pocket).

Lot 23 bidding history here

Original listing here \(if still live\)

Lot 43

A real bargain. Tommo comes in to the bidding at £110, gets outbid, auto bids up to £161, two minutes later some other pesky person bids £176 and k knowing that their maximum bid the owner of the most transparent race in the world manages to place a quick bid for £10 more to get the pigeons or £186...

Lot 43 bidding history here

Original listing here \(if still live\)

Lot 44

Tommo comes in to the bidding at £70, bows out, comes back in at £310, get over bid, keeps bidding and auto bids up to £531. Someone who really wanted the pigeon bids £550.07 in the closing stages of the auction, Tommo knows that's the maximum price (because he has access to the admin section of the auction or is on the phone to Tom his tech guy) and snatches the pigeon for £560.07. Inside "transparent" information though ehh.

Lot 44 bidding history here

Original listing here \(if still live\)

Lot 77

This time Tommo gets involved at £100. Battles with another bidder all the best up to £350 (which was an auto bid) then continues the bidding with manual bids. The pesky other bidder bids £10 over Tommos auto bid. And Tommo gets another bird for just £10 more for £430.

Lot 77 bidding history here

Original listing here \(if still live\)

Lot 143

The odd one out. The one that got away. Tommo only starts bidding (or bidding up) at £970. Prior to this two bidders were mad keen on getting this pigeon and bidding against each other. Tommo sees an auto bid for £1035 from the other party and to make sure he gets it places an auto bid at £1100. But damn the other guy beats him by £5 and manages to get this pigeon. Maybe Tommo was feeling generous and thought we its another £500 to me or maybe he missed this because he was focusing on making sure he got the start of the show lot 168,

Lot 143 bidding history here

Original listing here \(if still live\)

Lot 147

Another bargain. Tommo starts bidding at £105 and managed to get the lot by bidding £5 more against an auto bid.

Lot 147 bidding history here

Original listing here \(if still live\)

Lot 163

Tommo enters the bidding here at £210 just 35 minutes before the finish of the auction. Auto bids up to £250 but the same person he was bidding against (or bidding up) over bid tomorrow by £5 this time. Three minutes later Tommo grabs the lot for £5 more and gets it for £260 (£130 out of pocket)

Lot 163 bidding history here

Original listing here \(if still live\)

Lot 168

The famous lot, the grandson of Armando. Bidder tn (who ever that is) and another user are bidding on this pigeon from £865. Now this pigeon is a special one, special in a few ways. Special in that it's the grand child of the most expensive pigeon in the world, but also special in that it was caught by "straw catchers" after hotspot 2 race and only came back home a few days later.. Maybe the stray catchers had a psychic pigeon sense that this pigeon they they decided to keep in their loft was a gran child of the most expensive pigeon in the world?!? Or maybe not..

Bidding between tn and the other poor bidder carries on. The other bidder places an auto bid for £1010 (Cheap comes in the end, places an auto bid for £1010 (cheap right for a grandson of the most expensive pigeon in the world).

Now the Tommo Jnr profile hasn't bid on this pigeon but after seeing £1010 is the maximum auto bid comes in right away and grabs this bargain of a pigeon for another £5. Paying £1015 (£507.50) for a grandson of Armando. Tommo said he had his heart on this pigeon, so maybe tn is Gary too. We have no way of knowing. But either way we know Tommo sniped in at the end and [perhaps abused his inside transparent knowledge of the auction admin system to know he would win it for just £5 more. But thats fair, honest, transparent and acting with integrity right?

Lot 168 bidding history here

Original listing here \(if still live\)

Lot 192

This was the last pigeon in the auction and the last pigeon to end due to the continuous bidding going on . I later found out just after the auction ended that I know the other bidder who was trying to get this pigeon because right after it finished he messaged me to say he didn't get it. This bidder obviously really wanted the pigeon. But come on this is Tommos auction... He's the master. He's in charge. Tommo sees the bidding going and gets involved at £210. The bidding carries on up to The £700's The other bidder places an auto bid at £775, then right away ups the auto bid to £800. Tommo can see this and KNOWS £800 is the maximum in the closing seconds of the auction closing and comes in and snatches it for £5 more getting the pigeon at £805. Fair right?

Lot 192 bidding history here

Original listing here \(if still live\)

Everything above is fact based for anyone to see. Even if the auction listings are removed you can still see the screen caps of the bidding. Once again, together with all the other things about Tommo and his actions are up to you to make your own mind about. I for one (and others who know about this) think its bang out of order to run the auction yourself , with inside knowledge and be bidding on pigeons. It demonstrates a total lack of transparency and lack of trust in the man, race and family. Maybe. But thats just an opinion. Up to you what you think.

LATEST UPDATE: The only ridiculous explanation Tomlinson could give to the above is that the reason he runs his own auction site is because if he did it on a third party auction site the original owner would "only end up with about 15%" of the sale price. This is a pathetic response. He already pays for the photos to be done so it would mean auction sites would charge 10% of the sale price. He could chose to take the 10% hit on his commission, but doesn't. He doesn't because of the reason above. He can get bargains as he knows the maximum bids on pigeons by running it himself.

As someone who "Always tell the truth, and is always transparent" the excuse given is pathetic. Why doesn't Tomlinson tell the truth and be transparent? We know the real reason.

9th October 2020 - Robert Tomlinson pleads guilty to assault by beating.

Back in June I went with my 16 yr old son to pickup 7 pigeons that he bid on and won in 2019 WDW online auction. Pigeons which I paid for and arranged with Tomlinson to pickup on a Saturday afternoon. It was arranged two days prior to pick them up at 2pm. (In the interests of full disclosure Tommo had emailed me at 9:30AM on the Saturday morning saying it was "inconvenient" for me to come, I don't check my emails on a Saturday morning and didn't know about it. He was at home when we arrived so honestly, I think he was just messing me around. After 25 minutes of arguments and Tommo telling my son he couldn't get his pigeons Rob Tomlinson arrived and ran out of his car and started attacking my brother. (My brother stepped in front of me as Tommo Junior was running at me.) He was arrested and charged with assault. All of this because in his normally controlling bullying style Tommo decided he didn't want to give my son the 7 pigeons. You can listen to the whole sorry pathetic episode below:

Listen to the whole thing below.

Rob Tomlinson running out of his car before he assaults.

Rob Tomlinson in action.. Remember we only came to pick up 7 pigeons for my 16 year old son which Tommo had agreed to 2 days prior....

Annette Tomlinson trying to push my 16 year old sons phone out his hands. (He had the foresight to start videoing the whole thing as Rob Tomlinson arrived with Annette Tomlinson)

Annette Tomlinson still pushing my 16 year old son while her son is still having a go at my brother.

My brother suffered cuts and bruises as a result of Rob Tomlinson actions and never fought back at any time. The video of the whole incident was given to the police shortly before Rob Tomlinson was arrested.

9th October 2020 - Rob Tomlinson is given a criminal conviction for assault by beating.

On the 9th October Robert Tomlinson pleaded guilty to the charge of assault by beating and was given a 12 month conditional discharged and ordered to pay court costs.

He now has a criminal conviction and my son STILL doesn't have his 7 pigeons.

I have emailed proving that I wanted a courier company to pick up the pigeons instead of going to Tomlinsons property as I knew the type of people I was now dealing with. Tomlinson refused for me to have them picked up by a courier and insisted I came to pick them up myself.

These are the type of people the Tomlinson family really are.

How much do peanuts cost? WDW Auctions...

"Tommo" Posted this a few days ago. Someone needs to ask him how much peanuts cost.

Some facts:

* Tommo paid me nothing to run his 2019 online auction. I guess peanuts cost nothing.

* Tommo made over £8000 from the auction in 2019.

* I paid to run the auction and set it up out of my own pocket.

*Tommo's new best friend and all round tech 'genius' Tom Swift worked with me and advised me last year on the auction software. It did have some issues but still made over £16,000 and £165 average per pigeon

* Tom Swift has setup and is running the auction for Tommo this year. He is also using the same software to run it as last year but the site seems to be running fine.

* In the interests of transparency and being the "most transparent OLR in Europe" I'm sure Tommo will tell everyone how many pigeons he personally bid on in this year and how many he won once the auction is finished.

RPRA Hearing Update

December 2020 Update – I'm pleased to hear that the RPRA hearing is now scheduled for 2nd January 2021. If for any reason the hearing can't go ahead due to Covid regulations and I am told it will happen via zoom instead. I will update when I hear more.

11:34AM 21st October 2020 – I have just been told the planned RPRA hearing for 3 days time is cancelled due to covid tier 3 restrictions being placed on South Yorkshire. Another delay, after this has been going on for month. When will I ever get this man in front of the RPRA for his actions? I'm not sure, but I know it will happen one day!

RPRA HEARING UPDATE: I have now had the confirmation that the RPRA hearing will be on 24th October at 1pm in Chesterfield. The room is limited to 20 people I will be there with my son Zandie as a witness.

(CANCELLED)

September Update

Gary Tomlinson continues to try to bully and intimidate me and my family. Despite making over £100,000 from this years 2020 Who Dares Wins race, as a result of doubling his entries which I helped to do (he got 720 entries in 2019) he had yet to still pay me a single penny for any of the work I have done for me and continues to owe me many thousands of pounds.

I have 4 outstanding complaints against G&A Tomlinson lodged with the RPRA and I await a hearing to determine them.

There is a not hardly a week goes by when the man doesn't mention or attack me on his weekly "show." I say show as its really just an advert for his race and to demonstrate what a transparent and up front genuine guy he really is.

Just last week he slandered me on his show saying total untruths about me. The guy seems obsessed. I guess this obsession is based on the fact I refuse to be bullied by him. The man is used to bullying people and them backing down. That's how he operates. The obsession with trying to turn people against me is also a great way of diverting peoples attention from the actual situation and what he is.

He pretends to be a man of the pigeon people, a working class guy, a miner, salt of the earth etc etc. But really, he is all about the money and how much he can make. He will be your best friend, until he doesn't need you any more. Then you either shut up or he will try and bully you into shutting up. Most people shut up.

The trouble is, Tomlinson doesn't know how to deal with people he tries to bully who stand up to him who don't use their fists. If you are a smart person who doesn't result to physical threats and threats of violence, someone who uses their head instead of their fists he is stumped. He also gets very paranoid. His paranoia has made him accuse me of hacking into his computers and much more. Like I have time or the knowledge to do that. What I do have however is intelligence to make sure people know about how he really is.

Remember all of this happened when the man has made over £100K this year from his race, decided in January that he was going to hit his target of 1500 entries and he didn't need my services any more and subsequently started bad mouthing me on social media. This led to him engineering a way of making sure I didn't earn any money from entires in the race I was owed. Thats how money grabbing the guy is.

There are many things this "man" has done in the past months, too many to mention, many of them have effected my family and in particular my 16 year old son Zandie, who's in his first year of the pigeon sport. I can handle Tomlinson's attacks against me, doesn't bother me, but when he effects my young son it makes things very personal.

For me, it's gone way past just what money the man hasn't paid me, it's about making sure people know the full story and the man they call "Tommo".

One part of this process is using the forthcoming RPRA hearing to demonstrate just what Tomlinson has done. No matter what the outcome of this RPRA hearing I'm sure he will continue to try and bully and manipulate people. Just not me.

WDW OLR is FCI registered and as part of FCI rules all one loft race final basketing should be attended by an FCI representative (An RPRA official.) It looks like the RPRA representative couldn't attend and Tommo drafts in other people to help. I stated on the video here that two of the three race markers were "independent witnesses" for the race marking. This is impossible and another lie by Tomlinson as two of the three people helping to mark the pigeons had 4 pigeons in the final race. (Also the ring numbers of the pigeon should be read from the pigeon and verified on the ETS system, not the other way round.)

(Disclaimer: I'm not saying the two people in question are in any way in the wrong or have done anything wrong. What I am demonstrating is another lie by Tomlinson).

My opinions on the Tomlinson Family:

The real story about about Gary & Robert Tomlinson

His Response (Which he removed 14 hours later):

Gary Tomlinson's Response

18th April 2020. My call with Gary Tomlinson ..

Listen to the call below. This was a call I had at 8pm on Saturday 18th April after Tomlinson ignored me for an entire week while having the time to bad mouth me and the 30 pigeon syndicate I was trying to sell as part of my agreement with him. All members of the family got involved as you will hear. The man lied many times on the call. Remember Tomlinson has generated over £250,000 from the entires into this race this year and stands to make over £120,000 profit this year.

and my car was set on fire 70 minutes later..

The video I made right after the car was fire bombed.

Car Firebombed
from Mark Lyford

After putting the phone down and not getting the issue resolved I got on with my evening. 70 minutes later my car alarm went off and my 16 year old son and girlfriend saw our car being set on fire. Three men came and torched it. Writing off the car.

My 16 year old son and girlfriend were traumatised for months after, my son left the house and his pigeons for three weeks after.

CCTV footage of the three cowards...

The car after it has been torched. and the petrol can they used.

Tommos Theory...

Interestingly, the Tomlinson family have their own theory on what happened to my car just 70 minutes after the phone call with them. Their theory which they have publicly said is that I set my own car on fire..... Yeah that makes sense right?!

The police were pretty useless and no one has ever been found for the incident.

So I'll let you make your own mind up about Gary "Tommo" Tomlinson. Needless to say I regret the day Gary Tomlinson called me and asked for me to help him and his race.

Remember, you can only be bullied if you allow yourself to be bullied and that will never happen.

Since all of this started happening in April 2020 I have had many people contact me about this man, his family and their actions.

If you have been a victim of him then please feel free to contact me. It's time the truth behind this man came out and people stop being bullied by him once and for all.

Truth is powerful, and it prevails.

21 December 2021

Dear Mr Wood

Thank you for your letter dated 16 December 2021.

I believe every case is different and it is down to interpretation of the law and that ultimately it is a decision by the Courts.

Therefore I shall express my opinion on the matters raised in your letter and address your points, albeit from a layman's point of view.

The reason I proposed that particular agreement to Mr Tomlinson instead of being paid in GBP was because Mr Tomlinson stated that he couldn't afford to pay me as he was struggling financially. Therefore I believed that I could offer him a deal that would support him as I really believed in my abilities in turning his race from a mere 700 entries to a 1,500, potentially doubling his net profit. I wanted to help him out. I wanted to make his race the best there is in the UK. I had all best intentions. Anyone reading the contract can see that it's not made to my advantage.

As you rightly point out, I relied upon my "repute in the trade" to realise on payment for the services I provided to Mr Tomlinson as per our agreement. I could argue against your point of "significant gain on the rates you would otherwise obtain", given that you do not know the amount of hours I spent on the promotion and any other costs I have incurred with travel, professional printing of materials, setting up the website, editing etc. As you will be aware, with any promotional activities, most of these are being made before the actual event, to attract interest and participants.

For example, thanks to my connections and promotions, I secured entries from Romania for Mr Tomlinson. For the first time in his seven year race history. These competitors entered Mr Tomlinson's race based on my endorsement and my "repute in the trade", with an estimated total fee received by Mr Tomlinson of £2,700. They didn't know Mr Tomlinson. They knew me and they trusted me.

You also state that I "could have earned even more potentially by selling the birds after the race". This is untrue. Given that once the 30 entries would be sold into the race, they wouldn't belong to me anymore. They would belong to the new owner. It would be their gain if the bird managed to get into the final and returned and got sold, gain which is split 50-50 with Mr Tomlinson. So again, the one gaining out of this is Mr Tomlinson, not me.

So to suggest that I could have made significant gains overall through this arrangement, is not true. I felt belittled by the comment in your letter as it suggested that I was not worth the money I requested.

My relationship with Mr Tomlinson started in early April 2019 when he approached me as he believed I was the right person to make his race successful. Since then I carried out significant unpaid work in promoting his race and also on a personal level, supporting him through his shows in the UK. For example, I did interviews with him on my online show, I put together videos shot with my drone. I did all this for free as I believed in him.

For reasons unbeknown to me, Mr Tomlinson started denigrating me online, around March - April 2020 and he refused to return my calls or any attempt to resolve any potential misunderstandings amicably. He began a sustained online campaign of denigration of my name and my reputation, with posts in which he called me a con man, a fraudster and a liar. He claimed that I tried to "rip him off", a malicious accusation that he never proved. In the end he even stopped using my name and simply called me "the con man".

He shared these posts within several Facebook pigeon groups and generally at any opportunity that he had to bring my name into disrepute.

I have written evidence of his posts, comments, website links and texts, comments I received from people who bought into my syndicate and then withdrew their entries as they believed that the birds would not get a fair treatment given Mr Tomlinson's prejudiced and derogatory comments (including on his live streamed shows) towards me. So to be clear: people were afraid that these 30 birds (which weren't 30 after all, but this is another story) would not get a fair treatment given Mr Tomlinson's hatred towards me. It was his actions that created the unfairness, not mine.

In addition, I received slurs, insults and death threats, all as a result of his public comments about me. From people that never met me or had anything to do with me. All as a direct result of Mr Tomlinson's actions. I have evidence which I will provide if/when required by law to do so.

Yes, it is correct that I proposed as an alternative to enter the birds myself. Mr Tomlinson stated that it was against the race rules, which I wasn't aware of. He did not offer any other alternatives to ensure I received payment for my services.

As an alternative I also asked for my son to enter the pigeons in his own name. He declined it and asked for the full entry fees. He never at any point proposed any alternative that would suggest that he was prepared to pay for the services I had provided.

Mr Tomlinson offered at some point to pay £3,000 but then withdrew his offer (for which I also have evidence). He later offered £2,000 which I refused (June 2020). To me this demonstrates that Mr Tomlinson knows that he has not paid for my work. Therefore I can not accept your suggestion that I 'negotiated and received any payment'.

I tried everything I could to get some form of payment for all the hard work I put in. I think you can understand that the commercial dispute is not as straight forward...

Which takes me to your point about the "company's legal remedy to sue for the debt". My decision not to chase the debt was two fold:

- 1) It didn't make commercial sense to pursue it given solicitor's costs, court's costs that would far outweigh the money Mr Tomlinson's owed me;
- 2) The stress that Mr Tomlinson and his family put me and my family through months on end was not worth it. My family and my health take priority.

I simply chose to walk away. I wanted to draw a line under this matter and move on with my life.

So I disagree with your interpretation of my actions. Simply because I chose to walk away does not entitle Mr Tomlinson to use my work and then demand that I give him the right to the work anyway. My actions (and/or lack of) are not an endorsement to agreeing him to use my work.

In relation to the flyer and your point with regards to consumers "having imperfect recollection and are poor at remembering details unless items are seen alongside one another". Given that the letter doesn't quote the source, I believe this is a personal opinion and not a fact supported by evidence and/or research in relation to entries into pigeon races. Therefore I believe this is a subjective matter. Unless evidenced otherwise, I doubt that people entered any other race in the belief that they entered Mr Tomlinson's because they got confused by a particular flyer. So there is no detriment on Mr Tomlinson's behalf.

I am not prepared to provide you with any contracts or agreements between me and third parties. These are confidential agreements between me and the third parties. If Mr Tomlinson is so concerned that he may be breaking copyright laws, then he should stop using my work. However, given that he's still using these designs publicly after engaging your services suggests to me that he is not "seriously concerned" about breaking copyright laws. As I mentioned before, I believe that my commercial dispute with Mr Tomlinson is not resolved, therefore he shouldn't use my work.

In addition, he appears not to be "seriously concerned" about breaking copyright laws when he's actively advertising DVDs that I produced, with photos and montage that I produced which include my company's logo (as per my CAD letter recently sent) without my permission. So, he is using my work illegally, making a profit from my work, yet he is "seriously concerned" about a flyer.

With regards to defamation mentioned in the last part of your letter and my posting on my website, I include a recent Facebook post by Mr Tomlinson dated 11 December 2021 (copy enclosed), ten days ago. He contacted a total stranger, someone he had never met or was connected to. But someone who had a complaint against one of my employees in 2014. Seven years ago. I thought this example post would be relevant for your records. I'm not exactly sure what Mr Tomlinson is trying to imply there in relation to my attempt at "trying to rip them off" and that I'm telling people that I'm just "a family man". Also, for accuracy of information, I only met Mr Tomlinson in April 2019 and our dispute started in April 2020, so to state that he suffered "3 years of hell" is completely untrue. However, for someone who only reads his statements, this sounds powerful. In my opinion his actions are done with intent and malice. He is actively instigating someone who posted something seven years ago. He is resurrecting the hate whilst stating something untrue.

Another example of false accusations by Mr Tomlinson made public was during a live stream video in October 2021 about my apparent hacking the WDW Auction website although he had no evidence. That video stream is viewed live by potentially hundreds of people and being shared thereafter. His viewers listen to him and take in the hate propagated by him on a live stream. So the potential for damage is immense. Again, another act done with intent and malice, with no evidence of me having anything to do with his issues. Yet, so powerful at instigating hate. I felt the need to address that particular incident, not only because I simply haven't got the skills to carry out what Mr Tomlinson is accusing me of but also to inform him that what he's saying is practically impossible based on the software used. However, do you think my comments would matter to a public that already thinks of me as a "con man", a public that doesn't understand how the internet works but are supporters of Mr Tomlinson...I don't think so. Again, the power of his words in a live stream can not be undermined.

There are many other posts and comments (posted also by his son, Robert Tomlinson, with the most recent dated 14 December 2021) that span from April 2020 to date.

As you can see, there are two sides to every story.

With regards to my recent posting online mentioned in your letter, I removed some of my comments. I hope that satisfies your request. I believe in freedom of speech and I believe that I have the right to discuss this matter publicly based on facts. I decided to put the website up due to the bullying and harassment I received continuously from Mr Tomlinson and his family starting with April 2020. As you will notice, I do not promote the website and I have evidence of traffic to the website, so I can demonstrate that this is my way of simply protecting myself from abuse. Abuse that is still being actively carried out on online media, live video streaming, whatsapp group chats etc reaching out potentially thousands of people.

Yours sincerely

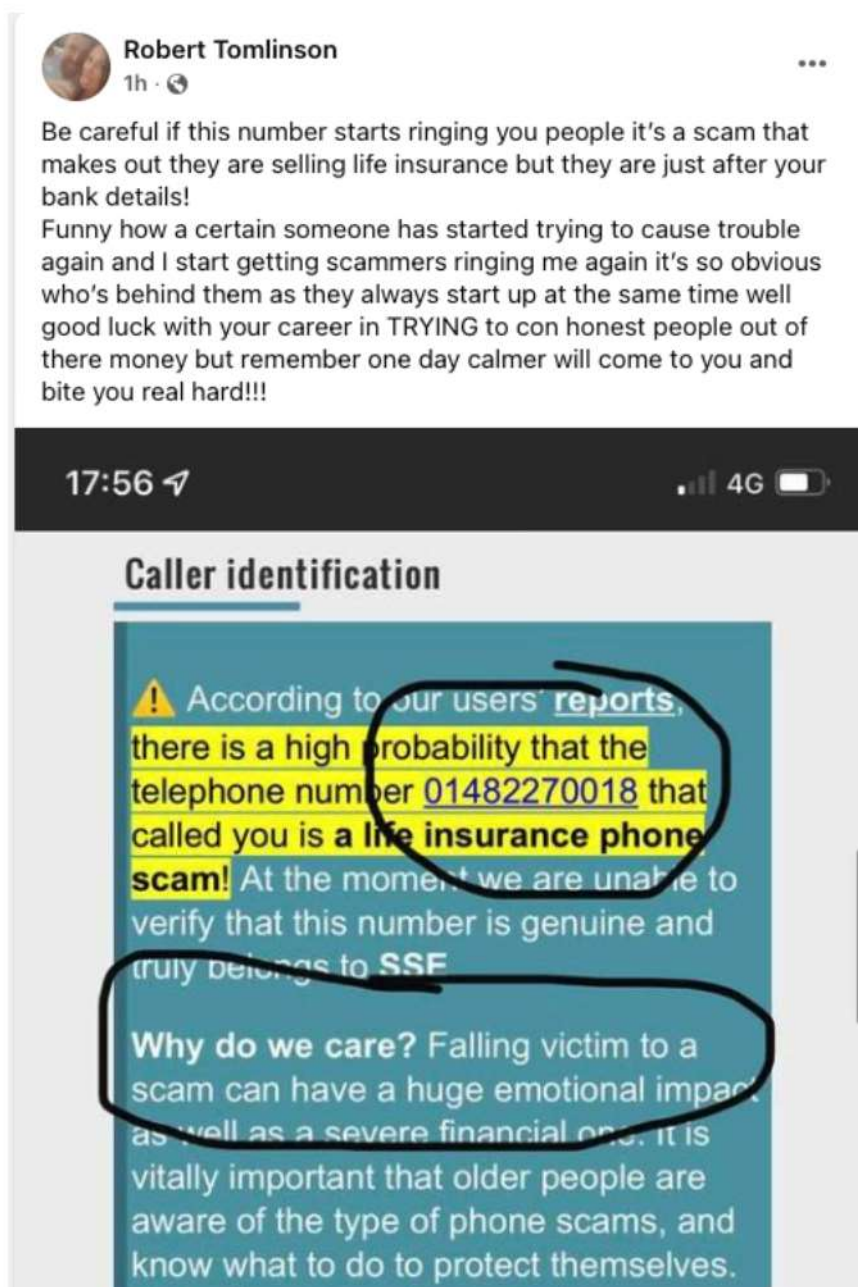

Mark Lyford

16 December 2021

By Email: (mark@lyfordoffice.com)

Dear Mr Lyford

OUR CLIENT: WHO DARES WINS (ALFRETON) LTD

We refer to our letter of 14 December 2021 and your reply of the same day. As I understand the position as set out in your letter you say the following:

1. That because our client has not paid you then they are not entitled to use the works;
2. That you believe there are sufficient differences between the logos/flyers of the two companies by reason of the fact that the "United Kingdom" logo used is not identical and the prize money is not the same; and
3. That the pigeon and cup logo is not actually owned by you.

I deal with each of these in turn below.

OWNERSHIP OF IP AND PAYMENT

I note that you do not suggest that we are wrong in law: as I understand the position, your argument is that it did not occur as payment was not made.

This gives rise to 2 difficulties in your position:

OWNERSHIP OF IP

As set out in our earlier letter, the law's view on ownership of IP and the issue of any debt for work done is that the IP vests in the client: this means that if there is non-payment of the invoice for work done then the creative company's legal remedy is to sue for the debt. Your solution – that the intellectual property did not pass as there was non-payment – is a serious derogation from that and would need to have been the subject of express agreement. It was not. As a result, you are wrong as a matter of law and on your own understanding the consequence is that our client owns the rights (which we say is the full copyright to the extent that you owned it, and must be an exclusive licence to the extent that you did not own the copyright).

Old Pump House 19 Hooper Street London E1 8BU

This would lead you to only ever have a remedy for non-payment of the debt for work done, but again that is simply not correct on the facts.

NO DEBT OWED

The agreement between your company and our client was that you would do the work in exchange for “30 birds” in our client’s race. This meant the provision of 30 birds and their entry into the client’s race.

This was a way of you earning money as you would be able to sell on the “birds”: they had a commercial value of £500 per 3 entries and of course you would be gaining the birds themselves, so a potential value for the promise was £5000 or perhaps a little more given the potential to sell the birds on after the race. We are informed that this deal was your suggestion and was accepted by our client, and it is reflected in the documents which we hold. £5000 was significantly more than the cash value of your work, and gave you the ability (subject to you exploiting your professed connections and repute in the trade) to realise a significant gain on the rates you would otherwise obtain.

We understand that you failed entirely to sell these “birds” on despite promoting the fact you had them (and we hold evidence of your promotion of the birds) and that you did not personally realise any significant income from the onward sale of these birds and entries. We understand that you then proposed to our client that you keep and enter the birds yourself, but our client informed you that this could not happen as it would be a breach of the racing regulations due to the fact that you were a contractor of our client.

Subsequently you arranged for the 30 birds to be picked up by third parties, although did not use the entries in our client’s race.

As a result it is clear that you negotiated payment and received it. That you did not realise the full financial potential of it stems from your abilities to market them.

As a result there can be no doubt even on your faulty interpretation of the law (ie that payment was required to get the IP rights) that our client is entitled to the full rights in the intellectual property.

DIFFERENCES IN THE FLYERS

You point to two differences in the flyers, namely the prize money and the differences in the device of the depiction of the United Kingdom. Neither of them is sufficient to dispel the similarities in the flyers, and the fact that you have used the same concept for their logo (albeit a slightly different depiction visually) is not enough: consumers have imperfect recollection and are poor at remembering details unless items are seen alongside one another: both would be remembered for their concepts, and as mentioned previously there have already been instances of customers being misled.

OWNERSHIP OF THE PIGEON AND CUP LOGO

In your reply you assert that you do not own the copyright in the “pigeon and cups” logo: instead you say that these have been licensed to you by a third party.

This gives rise to a number of issues:

Firstly, in your cease and desist letter forwarded to me by you in relation to “Re: Roller Banner Design and copyrighted images (the Work) by Mark Lyford (the Author)” (letter of 8 December to Gary Tomlinson) you assert:

“We are the owners of all copyright subsisting in the Work, which is an original artistic work created on by the Author”

There are three possible interpretations:

- a) You were knowingly or recklessly incorrect in the cease and desist letter when you said you owned the copyright in the pigeon and cups logo and that it was an original work created by you;
- b) You are knowingly or recklessly incorrect now in your reply when you say that you do not own the copyright and that it was licensed in from a third party; or
- c) Your position is that you licensed in the individual elements and created a new work by way of compilation, and you own the rights in the compiled “new” work.

Please clarify which of a)-c) is your position: to the extent that b) or c) is your position then our earlier correspondence stands.

Secondly, there is a further issue in that it must be an implied term of the agreement between your company and our client that the works created are original and are free from potential claim in their use.

As a result we must demand to see evidence of:

- a) the works licensed in; and
- b) the terms of the licence between your firm and the licensor.

We need to see this to ensure that our client is free to use the works created by you (including verifying the right to sublicense). You should provide the same in relation to all works licensed in which formed part of your deliverables under the agreement.

Please note that if our client is required to obtain a further licence from this third party (or any other) then it is likely that it will seek to recover the costs of such licence (or assignment of copyright) from you and/or your company. As our client would have expected the full ownership of the rights then it is to be expected that you and your company would be liable for the full cost of assignment together with any compensation required to be paid to any third parties for termination of any licences from that third party.

It is also the case that even if a third party has the underlying intellectual property rights, that does not permit you to create a logo for a third party which gives rise to an actionable instances of passing-off: copyright and passing-off are separate issues. You would be liable alongside your client for any instances of passing-off.

VIDEO STATEMENTS

Please note that we are aware of the content which you are posting online about this matter. We must ask that it be taken down as it is untrue, and you either know that it is untrue or are reckless as to its truth. Your posting of videos and text are maliciously made and are liable to damage our client.

Whilst we understand that you believe that there has been some commercial conflict between the parties, we cannot share that view and the statements expressed by you are entirely unacceptable. If these posts are not taken down within 3 calendar days, or if further posts are made, then we shall seek our client's instructions regarding formal proceedings for defamation and malicious falsehood.

In light of the nature of this correspondence and the serious concerns of our client we must demand a response on or before 5pm on 21 December 2021. This includes a full list of all third party intellectual property you licensed in to fulfil your obligations under the agreement with our client and evidence of those licences as to the subject matter and terms.

Yours faithfully

Dear Mr Woods,

Given the fact that I was not paid by your client I believe that any work I completed for him should not be used in any way, including advertising, social media posts etc.

I have not licensed the same work to a competitor, in fact the logo and prize money is different and the two images of the trophies and pigeon are licensed to me by a third party.

So to confirm I wish to state once again, your client has not paid me for any of the work done, I insist he ceases using all my work and this as far as I am concerned is my full and final response to the current issues.

Is it correct to assume that no further response will be coming from you and that your position is that as no fees were paid you retained the right:

1. To order that the use cease; and
2. To licence the same works to a competitor?

I obviously do not want to address further correspondence to you on a misunderstanding that you are not going to say anything further if in fact your email was just an interim/holding communication rather than a full response.

Our Ref: TO FOLLOW

14 December 2021

By Email: (mark@lyfordoffice.com)

Dear Mr Lyford

OUR CLIENT: WHO DARES WINS (ALFRETON) LTD

We are instructed by Who Dares Wins (Alfreton) Ltd, who previously engaged you in a design capacity. We are instructed to deal with the dispute which appears to have arisen between your respective companies, and are aware that you have sent a number of communications to Mr Tomlinson of our client asserting that you or your company own certain intellectual property rights and asserting that our client needs to cease use of the items which you designed for it.

As an initial point please note that now that we have been engaged you should send all further correspondence relating to this company and any allegations of intellectual property infringement to our firm: none should be sent directly to it or its directors unless we advise that we have been disinstructed.

We have been provided with a copy of the Marketing and Promotion Proposal for the years 2019-2020 which formed the basis for your services to our client. Principal amongst the services you were providing for them were the following:

1. Logo redesign
2. Website redesign
3. Flyer redesign

Whilst other services were to be provided, we understand that these are the key items in dispute at this time.

By virtue of the agreement we understand that it is common ground that you did indeed

Old Pump House 19 Hooper Street London E1 8BU
WWW.BRANDSMITHS.CO.UK

redesign the logo of our client, and also designed a promotional flyer and website which they have used on a continual and extensive basis since that point.

We also understand that our client paid all invoices presented for services, and that these were at the full rate charged.

As such, it is difficult to understand what basis you have for asserting that you have retained all copyright, and that you are entitled to terminate any licence granted to our client for the works created for them. For the reasons that follow your understanding of the law is simply incorrect.

OWNERSHIP OF COPYRIGHT

Your initial understanding of the law of copyright, namely that in the absence of agreement the contractor retains the copyright, is correct. That is, however, a very simplified approach and the law does not leave matters there: if it did it would leave the way open for unscrupulous designers to hold clients who have fulfilled their side of the agreement to ransom, or to otherwise allow them to disrupt the businesses of former clients. The law has placed a number of glosses on the simple assertion that the contractor owns the copyright.

In the case of a commission to create a logo for a client, the law implies further terms into an agreement. The key term implied is that the client is to be the owner of the rights. This is not an unusual term to be implied, and the Courts have found this to be the case on a number of occasions. The most recent occasion was in the case of Atelier Eighty Two Ltd v Kilnworx Climbing Centre CIC & Ors [2015] EWHC 2291 (IPEC) (30 July 2015) in which the writer of this letter was the successful advocate in asserting that it was an implied term of the contract that the copyright in the design work was to be owned by the client. The Court supported this with the following text in the decision (the most relevant parts being underlined by us to assist comprehension):

20. The specific issue between the parties was the nature of the implied term regarding copyright in the logo in the agreement between the advertising agency and Mr Evans. On appeal Jacob LJ referred (at [13]) to the principles governing the respective rights of a client who has commissioned a copyright work and the contractor who carried out the design work. These principles had been explained by Lightman J in Robin Ray v Classic FM plc [1998] FSR 622 (at 640):

"The issue in every such case is what the client under the contract has agreed to pay for and whether he has 'bought' the copyright. The alternatives in each case are that the client has bought the copyright, some form of copyright licence or nothing at all. It is common ground in this case that by implication the consultancy agreement at the least confers on the defendant a licence to use the copyright material for the purposes of its radio station. The issue is whether the defendant impliedly bought the copyright or a more extensive licence than the limited licence conceded.

The general principles governing the respective rights of the contractor and client in the copyright in a work commissioned by the client appear to me to be as follows:

(1) the contractor is entitled to retain the copyright in default of some express or implied term to the contrary effect;

(3) the mere fact that the contractor has been commissioned is insufficient to entitle the client to the copyright. Where Parliament intended the act of commissioning alone to vest copyright in the client e.g. in case of unregistered design rights and registered designs, the legislation expressly so provides (see section 215 of the 1988 Act and section 2(1A) of the Registered Designs Act 1949 as amended by the 1988 Act). In all other cases the client has to establish the entitlement under some express or implied term of the contract;

(4) the law governing the implication of terms in a contract has been firmly established (if not earlier) by the decision of the House of Lords in Liverpool City Council v. Irwin [1977] AC 239 ('Liverpool'). In the words of Lord Bingham MR in Philips Electronics v British Sky Broadcasting [1995] EMLR 472 ('Philips') at 481, the essence of much learning on implied terms is distilled in the speech of Lord Simon of Glaisdale on behalf of the majority of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in BP Refinery (Westernport) Pty Ltd v. The President, Councillors and Ratepayers of the Shire of Hastings (1978) 52 ALJR 20 at 26:

'Their Lordships do not think it necessary to review exhaustively the authorities on the implication of a term in a contract which the parties have not thought fit to express. In their view, for a term to be implied, the following conditions (which may overlap) must be satisfied: (1) it must be reasonable and equitable; (2) it must be necessary to give business efficacy to the contract, so that no term will be implied if the contract is effective without it; (3) it must be so obvious that "it goes without saying"; (4) it must be capable of clear expression; (5) it must not contradict any express term of the contract.'

(5) where (as in the present case) it is necessary to imply the grant of some right to fill a lacuna in the contract and the question arises how this lacuna is to be filled, guidance is again to be found in Liverpool. The principle is clearly stated that in deciding which of various alternatives should constitute the contents of the term to be implied, the choice must be that which does not exceed what is necessary in the circumstances (see Lord Wilberforce at 245 F–G). In short a minimalist approach is called for. An implication may only be made if this is necessary, and then only of what is necessary and no more;

(6) accordingly if it is necessary to imply some grant of rights in respect of a copyright work, and the need could be satisfied by the grant of a licence or an assignment of the copyright, the implication will be of the grant of a licence only;

(7) circumstances may exist when the necessity for an assignment of copyright may be established. As Mr Howe has submitted, these circumstances are, however, only likely to arise if the client needs in addition to the right to use the copyright works the right to exclude the contractor from using the work and the ability to enforce the copyright against third parties. Examples of when this situation may arise include: (a) where the purpose in commissioning the work is for the client to multiply and sell copies on the market for which the work was created free from the sale of copies in competition with the client by the contractor or third parties; (b) where the contractor creates a work which is derivative from a pre-existing work of the client, e.g. when a draughtsman is engaged to turn designs of an article in sketch form by the client into formal manufacturing drawings, and the draughtsman could not use the drawings himself without infringing the underlying rights of the client; (c) where the contractor is engaged as part of a team with employees of the client to produce a composite or joint work and he is unable, or cannot have been intended to be able, to exploit for his own benefit the joint work or indeed any distinct contribution of his own created in the course of his engagement: see Nichols Advanced Vehicle Systems Inc v. Rees [1979] RPC 127 at 139 and consider Sofia Bogrich v. Shape Machines unreported, 4th November 1994, Pat Ct and in particular page 15 of the transcript of the judgment of Aldous J. In each case it is necessary to consider the price paid, the impact on the Contractor of assignment of copyright and whether it can sensibly have been intended that the contractor should retain any copyright as a separate item of property;

(8) if necessity requires only the grant of a licence, the ambit of the licence must be the minimum which is required to secure to the client the entitlement which the parties to the contract must have intended to confer upon him. [...]

21. Having referred to this passage from Robin Ray, which he described as masterly, Jacob LJ, with whom Chadwick LJ and Lloyd J agreed, went on to say this:

"[16] So in the end, Mr Hobbs did not really challenge Lightman J.'s statement of the law which the deputy judge went on to apply. Mr Hobbs went on, however, to challenge that application. The deputy judge said this:

'36. It seems to me that when a free-lance designer is commissioned to create a logo for a client, the designer will have an uphill task if he wishes to contend that he is free to assign the copyright to a competitor. This is because, in order to give business efficacy to the contract, it will rarely be enough to imply a term that the client shall enjoy a mere licence to use the logo, and nothing more. In most cases it will be obvious, it will 'go without saying', that the client will need further rights. He will surely need some right to prevent others from reproducing the logo.

37. Indeed it seems to me that, in the ordinary way, a logo is a paradigm case falling within principle (7) in Lightman J's formulation.'

[17] Mr Hobbs initially characterised this as 'adopting a skewed approach' in favour of the commissioner. But as the argument developed, I think he in effect resiled from this. For he accepted that if Mr Evans' brief had simply been to combine two logos so as to produce a composite logo for the client, business efficacy would indeed require that all rights in the work should belong to the client.

[18] What, submitted Mr Hobbs, made all the difference in this case is that Mr Evans did not know that what he was being asked to produce was just a logo trade mark for the client – a mark which the client would be free to use all over the world actually on the boots as well as on point of sale material and elsewhere. All Mr Evans was told, and thought he was producing, was material for UK point of sale. That being so, runs the argument, all the client needed was a licence (possibly exclusive) for that purpose. A minimalist approach (see Lightman J.'s para.[6]) to the admittedly necessary implied term gives no more than that. It follows that there was no implied term as to title to copyright at all, and only a limited licence. Apart from that Mr Evans retained all the rights.

[19] I find that conclusion fantastic. If an officious bystander had asked at the time of contract whether Mr Evans was going to retain rights in the combined logo which could be used against the client by Mr Evans (or anyone to whom he sold the rights) anywhere in the world, other than in respect of point of sale material in the UK, the answer would surely have been 'of course not.' Mr Evans had no conceivable further interest in the work being created – indeed he surely would never have had the job at all if there had been a debate about this and he had asserted that that was to be the basis of his work.

22. In the case of any agreement by which the design of a logo is commissioned, the starting point will be the one identified by the deputy judge in Griggs, expressly approved by the Court of Appeal (at [16]): where a designer is commissioned to create a logo for a client, in order to give business efficacy to the contract of commission there will in the normal course be a presumption that the client has the right to prevent others from using the logo. I would add that it is, after all, the client's logo, intended to signal to the world that the goods or services supplied under that logo come from the client and no one else. This will mean either that the client retains ownership of the copyright or alternatively that he has the benefit of an exclusive licence. As Jacob LJ also said (at [19]), it is normally to be expected that the designer will have no conceivable further interest in the work. By way of obvious expansion on this, I would point out that any use of the logo except by the client is liable to be unlawful because it would give rise to a justified allegation of passing off. It would be very unusual for the parties to be unaware of this, at least in broad terms.

23. Jacob LJ stated (at [21]) that on certain facts it may be that the designer is entitled to retain rights in the work pending further payment. Plainly it cannot be ruled out as an impossibility. But it seems to me that the facts would have to point very clearly to such an arrangement having been agreed by the parties. For obvious reasons it would be unusual and commercially dangerous for the client to have his use of his logo made subject to the approval of someone else. Far less is the client likely to agree (or the designer likely to contemplate) that the designer will in certain circumstances be free to sell off the logo, possibly to a competitor of the client, and thereby give the competitor both the right to use the logo and to prevent others, including the client, from using it. There would have to be very clear evidence to support the existence of an agreement along such lines.

As I hope is clear from these passages, the law provides that the commissioner – our client – would be deemed to be the owner of the copyright in the logo and other created works where:

1. There would be the need to be able to sue third parties for misuse of the material;
2. Where there simply was no reason for the parties to believe the designer would retain any rights;
3. If the parties had discussed the matter beforehand it is obvious that the parties would have agreed this to be the case (and it is likely that if the commissioner had not obtained those assurances then the commission would not have happened);
4. The use of the works by anyone but the commissioner would be liable to give rise to an allegation of passing-off.

All of these factors apply to the logo, the flyer and the website, and it is simply inconceivable that it was not common between the companies that our client was entitled to all rights in the logos, flyers and website or that you would be entitled to retain such (or any) rights.

Even if we were wrong in the assertion that it owns the copyright, it would of course be implied that the licence provided would be exclusive (ie. only they could use the works) and perpetual (ie. having created the works you could not retract the permission at a later date).

As a result not only are you entirely incorrect to suggest that you can prevent our client from using the works created for them by you under the agreement you had with them, it is also incorrect to believe that you are entitled to permit any third party – particularly a competitor – to use the same works. This is particularly the case where the use of the works gives rise to a misrepresentation (“passing-off”). We say that is the case for the reasons that follow.

PASSING-OFF

As you will be aware, our client has a well-established and successful business in the field of pigeon racing. It does so under the name WHO DARES WINS and since at least as early as 2020 it has promoted those races by way of a flyer designed by your company.

This flyer has become synonymous with our client, and it is one factor used by the public to identify the services of our client and to distinguish it from others.

As a result the law would say that our client has goodwill identified by (amongst other things) the overall appearance of the flyer. We believe that the key elements in the flyer are:

- The particular colour of the background
- The contrast of blue with the red headline
- The layout and information expressed
- The pigeon and cups logo
- The use of the logo of the British Isles

Where another misappropriates or damages (or threatens to misappropriate or damage) the goodwill in a business by the use of signs which mislead consumers as to the source of the goods or services this will be an act of passing-off.

THE ACTS OF YOUR COMPANY

We are aware that in addition to seeking to prevent our client from using the work created by you for it, you have taken the additional step of allowing a third party to reproduce a substantial part of the works, notably the flyer.

The effect of the combination of the elements mentioned above in the section entitled “Passing Off” is to create a promotional flyer which takes advantage of the goodwill of our client. It does so by suggesting (contrary to fact) that your client British Masters International One Loft Race is our client (or that they are part of the same entity), or that alternatively they are connected either by way of common ownership, licence or endorsement.

Our client has been contacted by a number of people who believe that British Masters International One Loft Race is our client, or is in some way connected with it. This is strong evidence of passing-off and it would be open to our client to bring formal action to ensure that this use ceases and to obtain a financial remedy. This could be by way of damages or an account of profits (meaning that our client would be able to seek the profits made by your client).

We should also make it clear that if action were required to prevent your client from using these works it is likely that your company (and you personally) would be included in such action as co-defendants. The reason of course is that whilst your client is using the works, they do so either as a result of being given them by you (with them being unaware of the background) or as a result of a common intention to use a flyer which is misleading. As your company only has you as the director, it is inevitable that this is as a result of your personal actions and so you would be personally liable alongside your company and your client.

NEXT STEPS

As a result we must insist on the following:

1. That you retract any suggestions that your company has the right to prevent our client from using the works produced for it by you under the previous contractual arrangements with our client;
2. That you undertake on our client's request to complete any formal documents required to evidence the ownership of the copyright by our client;
3. That you advise your client of its inability to use any works which were created for our client (or any colourable imitations of the same); and
4. That you undertake to pay our client's costs to date in this matter (currently assessed at £750 ex VAT).

If our client is forced to take formal action then it will bring this correspondence to the Court's attention as part of the request for flagrancy damages (which are damages which may exceed the actual damage inflicted) or any other equitable remedies or costs.

In light of the nature of this correspondence and the serious concerns of our client we must demand a response within 7 days of this letter, namely on or before 5pm on 21 December 2021.

Yours faithfully

RPRA One-Loft Report

Hotspots 3, 4 and the Final

Hello everyone, I hope you are all keeping well in these very testing and difficult times. It has been a very difficult time for us all over these last 12 months living with this virus. There has been so much heartbreak with people

Awaiting the arrivals.

First arrivals.

The first group to clock.

losing loved ones, many people experiencing stresses from work, home life disruptions, and of course the mental well-being of us all throughout this time. However we will come out the other side of this with all different kinds of experiences and hopefully we will be more positive with our own plans and outlook over the next 12 months. I really hope that things will get back to normal for us all as soon as things possibly can.

In the meantime, make yourself a hot drink and let's look back at the RPRA One Loft race 2020. Below I have combined the Hotspot articles of Hotspot 3 and 4, along with the RPRA final result. It won't be long before the lofts are once again filling up for the 2021 season.

Hotspot 3 Race

Young Birds 2020 Hot Spot 3

Sunday, 30th August: Worksop 103 miles, 1210 yards. Jeremy liberated the 770 birds at 0800hrs and they cleared brilliantly and on line. The first birds were home at just after 9.30am, and 600 were back by just after 11am.

Results Hotspot 3

In 1st place is Teeside Bombers 2 Syndicate with their blue pied hen NEHU2020SS07, belonging to Soderland, Maddison & Calvert. This pigeon was bred from a direct son of Gebroken, Ace Sprint Champion 2007, winner of 9 x 1st and a super breeder. This pigeon was obtained from P Green and Billy Calvert – Teeside Bombers.

7th place Xmen Return, Mr Fred Hall.

In 2019 I raced a full season on the allotment plot and we did better than I thought, building up a new team., winning again many top positions Club and Fed level.

In 2020 we won a good few 1sts, 2nd and 3rds in club racing. Plus 1st Club 234 members 1st North Section and 2nd Open from Carentan 1,288 birds; Bamfords Gold Ring Spectacular 2020; 3rd Section, 7th Open and 6th Section, 15th Open.

Who Dare Wins grand final

We finished 19th and 64th in the final from Falaise.

RPRA Grand final Alnwick

Amazingly we finished 1st and 76th. Winning this was a great end for the Owen name in the pigeon sport 2020!

We've supported the RPRA one loft for the last three or four years and I must say how professionally it's run and think Jeremy does an exceptional job keeping all the birds and has done well each and every time we have sent. It's the first year we've tried other One Lofts, like Who Dare Wins – again run extremely well!

I would like to thank my wife and our amazing 11 children for the help and supporting me with my passion for the birds and friends for the help and advice over the years and my mum and dad for an amazing childhood around all the weird wonderful pets we've had around us growing up!

I'd like to close by saying – anyone interested in purchasing any young birds, please get in touch on 07841 106756 thanks

In 2nd place is Mr Ronnie Wright. Ronnie Wright, 2nd in the final race, 9th in Hot Spot 2 race with GB20V33502, now named Baby Blue. This pigeon was also 7th in the ACE pigeon stats.

I started keeping pigeons when I was 13 years old in 1967. My first year racing was in 1968 with Whitburn Homing Society and the West Lothian Federation with my late father, John Wright. We flew as J & R Wright until the mid 1990's. When I started up and became an established fancier, my father and I had our fair share of club and Federation success, both inland and outland averages on a few occasions.

When my father passed away in 1997, I flew as Ronnie Wright, still in Whitburn Homing Society, and again I was fortunate to have a bit of success winning the Club and Federation Averages over the years as a solo flier, without my late father.

Around 2005 I joined Armadale Homing Club in West Lothian and was there until last year, my final year of club flying. During this time, I went into partnership with my good friend, Gordon Lyons from Blackridge. He bred the birds, then the youngsters were moved to my loft in Whitburn, a short journey away, and I raced them from my loft, of course with Gordon attending on race days. This continued for a few seasons and then we decided to fly as solo flyers again at Armadale Club and still remain good friends to this day.

We both entered birds together into the Scottish Homing Union Millennium One Loft Race and also in 2001 or 2002 we entered again. We did well in both, being 8th in one and winning a fair amount of pools. In fact, the fancier that

Rasbull Lofts Specialist Breeding Loft

Home of the Rasbull Rockets!

The small loft with a growing reputation! Hardly anyone races the Rasbulls as we have refused to sell them but those who have had them have won with them!

In just 3 years we have bred 3 x 1st National, 5 x 1st Section National, 6 x 1st Federation, 27 x 1st Club, JO Davies Cup (Best Young Bird in Wales) and Rhondda Valley Federation Bird of the Year with an average of just 20 youngsters tested a season!

Our birds have also finished 1st UK, 12th International - Derby Arona, King of the Atlantic Averages. 24th Open - Derby Maspalomas Final Race 295 miles and 30th Open - Who Dares Wins International Final Race 292 miles.

Our aim is to breed pigeons capable of winning Nationals and One Loft Races where the focus is on quality over quantity. We only house 22 pairs of stock birds! We also have a satellite loft, Neil Shepherd breeding from pure Rasbull pairings that have come direct from our main breeding loft. Mr and Mrs Winder are also breeding from the Rasbulls at their racing loft in Abercynon, South Wales.

We have created a test loft program with Mr and Mrs Winder where our young birds from our main breeding loft, Neil's satellite loft and the young birds Mr and Mrs Winder are breeding from our test loft birds are then put through their paces each year. Results are analysed and only the stock birds which have produced remain in the breeding program for the following season!

You will see the improvement in performances being achieved is improving year on year as the best birds return to supplement the gene pool!

All results achieved can be backed up with proof by looking on our 'Results' page below!

Preventing Young Birds Sick Resulting In Fatalities with Tommo Jnr

POSTED ON DECEMBER 31, 2018 BY ADMIN

Dec

Hi everyone, following on from the article I wrote regarding fatalities in young and old birds, this is the way we did things and still do with the Who Dares Wins International One Loft Race birds, we no longer race ourselves so the secrets are out enabling the working class fancier and a complete novice to compete against the big boys.

Prior To Pairing: I will start in September because this is when we choose to vaccinate all our stock with the combination vaccine for PMV/Herpes, if your birds have never been vaccinated with this combination vaccine then it is very important to vaccinate twice 14 days between vaccines, after this you only need do them once a year, why against herpes many may ask, from experience of having had this dreaded disease in 2015, I did much research into the Herpes virus and most pigeons will have it as they do canker, old pigeon's generally will have a strong enough immune system to handle this but they breed it into the youngsters, your youngsters upon weaning may look 100% healthy but within three weeks maybe slightly longer you will find some fatalities this is down to the herpes virus, so it is imperative that you vaccinate all your old pigeon's with this dual purpose vaccine before pairing up, remember this is only my advise passed on through experiences we have had.

Moving on now to 60 days before pairing, we treat all our pigeon's for worms using Moxidectin for 2 days followed up by 2 days of Bio- Liverchol. Then around 40 days before pairing we put the stock on Baytril 10% for seven days, I know many will frown when the name Baytril is mentioned but it's the best multi purpose treatment there is, I have tried para stop and Coxymex but Baytril is the best, however you must not abuse it, for e.g. using Baytril to en performance when racing because it will ruin your pigeons immune system, this product used once a year will not harm your pigeons. When using any medication you must allow your water to stand for 24 hours with no top on, this will allow any toxins to escape, after using any medication its important to follow the treatment with 4 days of Bio- Liverchol. For 28 days before coupling our pigeons the hens are given only 1/2oz of Depurative per day because we don't want our hens over weight if they are too fat then they may struggle or the laying of eggs will be delayed, we want all our hens to lay within three to five days of the first one laying and certainly all to have laid within 12 days of being put together.

Coupling Your Pigeons: When you have selected your breeding pairs and put them together still only feed them lightly but use only good quality corn, we use Vanrobaeys Caseart Light and at least 3 days per week we put Bio Plume Plus oil and Oligo-Elements Plus on the corn this gives the pigeons everything required, in the water 3 days per week we use a top product called Bio-Cal D3, we give the birds only twice per week prior to laying a small hand full of mixed minerals in their boxes, some will ask why do you not leave grit and minerals in all the time, its simple, from December through until mid March we can lot of damp wet weather and the atmosphere in your loft will although seem dry have a damp atmosphere especially at night when it gets colder unless heating is being used, but I am talking about the everyday working class fancier who will not be using heaters, damp minerals and grit is a recipe for Ornithosis and other diseases plus unless the pigeons are feeding there is no need for them to have grit and minerals every day.

When our pigeons have all laid and are sitting about five days we treat them for Trichomonosis (Canker) the product we use is Ronidazol, the pigeons are given this treatment for 7 days followed up by 4 days of Bio-Liverchol.

I will move on now to when youngsters are in the nest, again we use only top class breeding mixes for e.g. Vanrobaeys Breeding Exclusive mixed with Vanrobaeys Breeding Supreme 50/50 also a good pinch of multi-mineral everyday but no grit is left in pots on the loft floor, in the water twice weekly we use Botanicals Vitin a good quality reasonably priced multi-vitamin. If we get any pigeon's drinking slightly more water thus passing it onto the squeakers causing wet droppings we will use for 5 days either Botanicals Mediylite-Plus or Vanrobaeys HYP 100 in the water.

At this stage of this article I want to make it clear these are only my chosen feeds and products, at no stage am I trying to push any of the products we use on anyone its your choice as to what corn etc. you decide to use I am only trying to help.

Prior To Weaning Off: When the squeakers are approx. 21 days old we vaccinate them against PMV using Columbovac and their feeding will have changed we use 70% Vanrobaeys Breed&Wean mixed into the two breeding mixes, once the youngsters are picking up and feathered under the wing we will move them into their own section the age of the squeakers will be approx. 26 to 30 days old, the day of weaning we give every squeaker a pill for Trichomonosis (Canker).

The hens should by this time have laid again and be sitting their second round of eggs, so again we will treat them all against Trichomonosis (Canker) with Ronidazol but only for 3 days followed by 4 days of Bio-Liverchol.

Weaned Squeakers: We now have the youngsters in their own pen/pens and fending for themselves, we feed them 70% Vanrobaeys Breed & Wean and 30% Maple Peas, in the water Vanrobaeys Cider Vinegar.

We never use water direct from the tap, all the water we use will have been stood for 24 hours with no cover over it allowing any toxins to escape, when the youngsters are 35 days old we vaccinate them again, this time against PMV/Herpes, following the vaccination we put Vanrobaeys HYP 100 in the water for 3 days, having used this vaccine since 2015 we have never had any youngsters with what's known as fat eye, the fat eye is a form of herpes.

We like most are forever observing the babies once weaned, because one minute you have them the next they do down like flies, as regards getting them out to familiarise themselves with the surroundings I see no hurry if you have aviaries on your lofts.

I don't see any importance in rushing to get them out into the skies especially until the female raptors are sitting eggs around April, this is providing they are in the aviaries 90% of the time, if we didn't have aviaries then obviously we would have the youngsters out daily.

Moving forward now, some 14 days after vaccinating the youngsters for PMV/Herpes we will again vaccinate them but this time against Salmonella/Paratyphoid this vaccine is immediately backed up by using Bio-Liverchol in the water for 4 days, after using this vaccine you may have the odd one show a few signs of stress but it is very unlikely, on the whole your youngsters will be quiet the opposite they will be bouncing, it is important to treat regularly say every 6 weeks for Canker, when all your young bird team is together and you are quiet happy and for e.g. its been 28 days after the last vaccination we ourselves will give them their last vaccination using Colombovac PMV/POX, its common knowledge that POX is becoming more and more rife in our sport, many years ago you very rarely heard of anyone getting Pigeon Pox, we the fanciers are to blame because had we not starting using this combination vaccine then we would not have introduced this disease, Pigeon POX spreads very fast but on the whole will not harm your youngsters however there can be fatalities but mostly only when babies get it in there mouth, if you do get any birds with POX there is no direct cure but Iodine is very good, use a Q Tip and paste iodine over the lump but do-not pull the scab off this will drop off by itself. I have heard of some fanciers sending birds to be raced totally innocent not recognising their birds have POX.

When racing ourselves we always put our birds on the Darkness when the clocks were put forward in March, it is now important to treat them after two weeks for Ornithosis because although you may have good ventilation in your loft, the youngsters are locked up/darkened out for 16 hours per day often in the prime hours and in the months of May & June when it can be really hot so there will be very little wind and the heat created from the pigeons inside the loft will be abnormal.

When using both the Dark or Light system we are going totally against nature, I have to say that if we were racing our own pigeon's to-day then we would have two teams one on the Dark and one on Natural.

I am not at all a fan of using the dark or light system but to compete in the longer big money races then you must have birds on the Dark or Light System.

I wont go on and bore you with how we used to fly our youngsters through the season or the motivation used, all this along with how we used to race our old birds to include what I call my A to Z bible of pigeon racing will be featured later and I will leave no stone unturned giving a complete novice the experience gained from over 45 years in our sport enabling all to compete against the big boys.

I will close this article now and I hope it helps the working class fancier to ensure 100% health in your young birds and breeding team, remember only healthy pigeons will win races.

If you need any assistance or have any questions regarding this article please contact me.

All systems go for 2020!

Wow, its been some time since I have a posted an update but regular updates have been put on our Facebook page. I didn't think we would have old bird racing this year but its great to see the sport back up and running.

We have had a great breeding season to date with 38 youngsters having been dispatched to our test loft of Mr and Mrs Winder for the coming season. It will be great to see how this team do as it is by far the most that have left to date. Alan and Lorna have had youngsters from every pair at Rasbull Lofts and we cant wait for the results of their progress.

We have 1 bird still in the Derby Arona One loft race due to it being postponed due to the virus situation. He has now had 21 races and he is 3 races away from making the final. They started out with 3,200 and currently have around 600 still in the loft. Fingers crossed he can put up a good performance now he is getting to the longer distances that will suit him. He is a son of Rasbull Dicks 49er who was 4th National so I expect him to put up a good performance.

We have sent a hugely strong team to the Who Dares Wins One Loft Race this year. We have sent 9 entries and we could not have sent a better team if we tried! I am really looking forward to this race and seeing how this team of Rasbuls get on! The team consists of :-

3 from Rasbull Maximus 1st WSE National, Best Young Bird in Wales, Federation Bird of the Year paired to Rasbull Athena 2nd WSE National.

2 from Rasbull 01, Dam of 2nd and 4th WSE National, paired to Rasbull Rameses, Sire/G.Sire of 2 x 1st Club and 3rd, 4th and 5th Federation.

2 from Rasbull Nemesis, Sire of 1st WSE National paired to Rasbull D'Artagnan winner of 12th and 13th WSE National.

1 from Rasbull Chief, Sire of 2nd WSE National paired to Rasbull Kulpa 699 Dam & G.Dam to 2 x 1st Federation winners.

1 from Rasbull 27, Sire & G.Sire to 2 x 1st Federation winners paired to Rasbull Valhalla, Dam of 1st WSE National & 1st Welsh, 1st UK, 12th Ace Bird Derby Arona Averages.

The season has got off to an incredible start for our existing test loft birds. In the first race Mr and Mrs Winder recorded 2nd, 9th, 10th and 30th Federation from 2,261 birds. And in the second race N.Bright & Son recorded 7th Federation from 3,478 birds.

Mr and Mrs Winder clocked the following test loft birds in the first race:- 2nd Federation pigeon was a daughter of Rasbull 66 x Rasbull Boudicea. 9th Federation was a Grandchild of Rasbull Semtex, 10th Federation was a Grandchild of Rasbull Semtex and 30th Federation was the nestmate of Rasbull Maximum, the 1st WSE National winner, Rhondda Valley Bird of the Year and Best Young Bird in Wales.)

N.Bright & Son clocked a test loft bird to finish 7th Federation in the second race having already been 4th Club in the first race with the same pigeon. This hen is a Grandchild of Rasbull Semtex.

We are planning on making some alterations to the loft in the next couple of weeks which will enable us to better lay out the loft for next years breeding season which is already been planned. We currently have 17 pairs in the loft and there is a round of 28 youngsters due to be weaned shortly with another 20 eggs being sat at present. Planning at Rasbull Lofts never stops as we strive for better and better results!

Below is a banner we have in the shop which show positions won by the Irish pigeons in just 5 year's and only small birdage sent over, Ive added the last 2 years. WDW One Loft Race certainly suits the Irish birds.

In 2020 the Irish had 5 birds in the top 50 from just a small entry.

In 2021 which was our hardest season to date the Irish Fanciers had 7 birds in the top 50 positions in the final again only small birdage sent over.

I love this picture which was taken at Uttoxeter Show in 2019, Mr William Horton of the WTH Syndicate and your's truly. The Red Cock which would not trap in the 2021 final belonged to William who is now in his 80s a true gent.

Hi Gary, further to our conversation on Monday, a few of the four nations syndicate members were very confused as to the banner that was advertised under a new name, British masters. I tried to tell them it was nothing to do with who dares wins, who dares wins have had that banner since 2020. But a couple pulled out of the syndicate as it was misleading people they said. The other race have only just started using it in last couple of months. Just prize money different. Also they thought the prize money wasn't guaranteed anymore, as they state its subject to a certain amount of entries, Where wdw is guaranteed money.

Hope this clarifies things.

But it has caused a bit of confusion, and ultimately cost you entries and me some grief.

Kind regards

Many thanks

Hi mate

07/04/2020

Although I don't see anything wrong with me offering the syndicate and being upfront about the birds coming from you I think neither of us needs the hassle.

I don't get these people, maybe I never will.

The reason I offered the 10 bird team as part of our contract was to save you from putting out money before you got money in for the 2020 race.

I've spent a lot of time with promoting and marketing, perhaps hundreds of hours on things so far with many more to do in the coming months.

I value all this work at close to £6k but considering the whole situation was happy to get £5000 for my work for WDW this year.

Hence the reason I couldn't accept the £2500 you offered.

So in an effort to cut the crap these idiots are giving you and resolve the situation I propose to settle at £4,000. You take the 10 teams back, and I will refund the money to the people who have paid for the syndicate spots and will tell people the syndicate is cancelled. Although I really wanted £5000 for my work I will take £4000 to get the situation sorted out and have no hassle. I just cant take less than £4000. In addition to all the hours and efforts spent Im probably £1000 in on cash expenses.

Let me know what you think and if you agree lets get it sorted asap and nip it in the bud.

If for any reason you cant agree to this I will just continue with the syndicate.

Regarding other things. I think based on the reaction you have had its worth distancing ourselves from each other over and above the promotion and marketing im doing for you for WDW.

So I suggest we split the DVD stock in half and sell them ourselves. This is assuming you don't want to do any more DVD's.

Also I would like to get my pigeons from last years auction.

This then simplifies the relationship for the contract we have and no one can or should have any issues moving forward.

Its up to You then after the contract expires if you want to continue mate.

Let me know your thoughts,

Mark

Jente Van Doren I feel for Mr Lyford in this business deal after completing lots of excellent professional marketing work. It seems that he is being under mining by the client suggesting that some of the 30 birds may be missing. If this is just a ploy to stop people buying Marks syndicate birds then it is a wee bit underhand and uncalled for.

You have obviously not checked the participants list, your birds are OUT.

This is what is going to happen, when we hand scan the birds after June 20th, any of which remain with your rings on will be put in a basket and you will collect them.

If Zandy wants birds in the race then he pays the entrance fee just like anyone else.

REMEMBER THIS.... RPI, Mark Lyford, Who Dares Wins IM OUT.

Gary.

Gary,

In an effort to conclude our dealings together please put the entire 29 pigeons on the current list into Zandie's name. Please put his entries in as "Zandie's Lofts" on the benzing live system.

His details for your records to update are:

Zandie Holyland
Email: zandieholyland@gmail.com
Tel: 07449 172219

I have attached the transfer form pre filled in with my details for you to transfer the birds into your name so the birds are RPRA rule compliant.

I can confirm that the agreement in relation to the DVD rights is that you own the DVD rights and I own the online video rights.

Upon transferring the birds into Zandie's name it will mean I have nothing to do with the birds and the race any more and I hope Zandie will get some good positions out of the 29 entries. I trust all remaining birds he has in the race, will be treated the same as all other entrants.

Once we have picked up the 7 birds, transfer forms and pedigrees at 2pm this coming Saturday 6th June 2020 this will conclude all business between us.

Mark Lyford

To: david bridges

Hi David,

Further to our phone call earlier today I would like to explain my situation regarding the 25 remaining pigeons that should be in the Who Dares Wins One Loft Race.

As you know these rings were given to Tomlinson to ring pigeons that he bred to enter into the race.

As you will also know Tomlinson attempted to transfer these rings into his own name two weeks ago, then, 5 hours later announced that the pigeons has been withdrawn from the race.

Although I officially own the pigeons now that the transfer request was blocked by the RPRA due to this issue these pigeons were to be entered into this years race. They have no value to me unless they are in the race. Since Tomlinson has now broken his contract with me by not allowing the pigeons into the race and also tried to transfer said pigeons into his own name I hope the RPRA will understand my situation.

As you have seen from previous correspondence I asked Tomlinson to put the remaining pigeons in to the race in my sons name, which he refused.

Then offering me £2000 and the 7 pigeons that are part of the other complaint was refused by me and I said the minimum I would accept is £4000 and the 7 pigeons.

The reality is Tomlinson could sell those remaining pigeon and that would pay the money I am requesting to finish this issue between us. He also said as part of his reasoning why he wouldn't pay any more than £2000 that he didn't know how many pigeons were remaining. Well he does now, he knows there are 25 pigeons remaining, those pigeons are worth at least £4000 - £5000 in the race as venture birds. Gary himself said on his video on Monday how good the pigeons were.

So to clarify I categorically do not want those pigeons, they are of no value to me and him offering them to me out of the race is breaking his contract that he has many times said he has stuck to.

I really don't know why he is being so difficult about all this. He knows he has 25 pigeons in the race, he could pay me, transfer the birds into his name and sell them.

Regarding the other 7 pigeons complaint I find it interesting that he is offering me the other pigeons, directly going against the contract we have but so far has not given me the 7 other pigeons which are the subject of the other complaint against him.

My position is simple. I will not take the 25 pigeons, I want them in the race, or £4000. I also want the 7 other pigeons which he has now had for 6 months.

Gary Tomlinson

Your demands outside of the monies are not acceptable so no deal.

12:38

what part of my demands outside of the monies are not acceptable to you ?

12:44 ✓✓

Your demands regarding the DVD rights therefore forget it now please leave us alone and stop harassing us.

12:50

the DVD deal is nothing to do with our contract as you quite clearly stated on the call on Saturday. But fair enough if thats how you want to be and play it fair enough. Send those 7 birds I own via walkers tomorrow please.

12:51 ✓✓

I take this above as official confirmation that you are not prepared to honour any contract we had and I will proceed with this as final. I own those 7 pigeons, so please send them, their pedigrees and transfer forms to me via Walkers. Ive wasted enough time with you and this situation and intend to spend no more time back and forth with you.

12:54 ✓✓

Not a chance, they rearing youngsters, I will contact you when they have finished rearing and you can then arrange with me to come in person to collect them, we are abiding by the original contract now leave us alone.

12:56

"Your demands outside of the monies are not acceptable so no deal." so the contract is ended as of now. only an hour ago you were willing to settle. So thats that. i will proceed as I see fit. And I expect to get half the youngbirds out of the round of pigeons you are using MY pigeons to breed from with full pedigrees and I will never be visiting you in person ever again. Your choice Gary , you made you decision and that is that.

13:01 ✓✓

Who Dares Wins International One Loft Race

Important Update, the loft will open 4 weeks earlier than planned, so you can now send birds from 1st February until 24th April, we have done this to try and accommodate some fanciers who bred early for another one loft race which unfortunately is not going ahead.

We have had a good day at the loft to-day, the sliding doors are now fitted to the new trapping area, we do plan to have all the sliding door's fitted in every aviary section by Friday. In just 4 weeks we could have our first birds for the 2022 season in the loft, enjoy the ride everyone.

We do still have some spaces available, if you need to check we have you booked in the please message me.

Dear Sirs,

I write regarding the issue of the 29 rings that have been transferred to G&A Tomlinson.

As you will be aware I made an official complaint about this 4 days after the transfer was initiated. I am now told the block of the transfer did not happen.

In my opinion I have been let down but the RPRA with this issue. I have fulfilled my obligations to notify the relevant people at the RPRA about this, yet the transfers have still been allowed to continue even when they could still be reversed.

This is important as these pigeons are being given away by G&A Tomlinson at 8PM tonight to other people.

Under no circumstances should this be allowed to happen and I feel due to no fault of my own the Tomlinson's are being allowed to break RPRA rules prior to the hearing which I am told will happen in July. To clarify the transfer forms were sent to Tomlinson with the sole purpose of the pigeons being entered into his one loft race in my sons name, which he refused to do and withdrew the pigeons as official entries just 5 hours after he initiated the transfer of the rings / birds.

Yours Faithfully

Dear Mr Bridges,

Please find a video that Gary Tomlinson did two nights ago in which he admits the 30 pigeons should have been in the race and that the 7 pigeons were mine. He admits he changed his mind. It is worth noting that this video was removed from his FB group the following morning.

The video is here: <https://racingpigeon.s3.us-east-1.amazonaws.com/Iomlinson/Garv%20-%20-%202020-06-10%202020-47-09.mp4>

Thanks for your help and support on this issue.

Mark.

You are responsible under RPRA Rules to organise the return of 26 pigeons which belong to you.

Although the RPRA are aware of the situation I will go through the correct channels of reporting them.

I will invoice you for the upkeep of the birds whilst they remain at Who Dares Wins at a cost of £5 per bird per day.

The total cost is £130 per day which I will invoice you for when I have a date for collection.

None of these birds will be allowed to leave here until the invoice is paid in full.

You can contact Walkers and have them collected on Wednesday 1st July.

Gary.

8th June

Hi everyone, its been a good day at the lofts to-day, at the weekend we gave the youngsters a two day coarse for worms we will repeat this again in around six weeks.

We plan to have the Benzinger Equipment installed by Wednesday evening, then its a case of getting it live, I have spoken with Eric from Benzinger and he is quiet confident we can sort this out pretty quick.

I have updated the Participants list so people who won venture birds on the bonus ball please check all is OK, this will be on our web site at approx 7.00pm, you will note that some 29 birds have been removed from the list, these are the Mark Lyford entries.

Personally I think the birds deserve there spot in the race they have done nothing wrong I would let them race and any winning they may win give the money to charity

Or is there anyone out there wants to club together and send them as a team to another one loft race and any winnings go to charity 🙏

EMAIL CHAIN SHOWING THAT I DO NOT WANT THE BIRDS

To: david bridges

Hi David,

Further to our phone call earlier today I would like to explain my situation regarding the 25 remaining pigeons that should be in the Who Dares Wins One Loft Race.

As you know these rings were given to Tomlinson to ring pigeons that he bred to enter into the race.

As you will also know Tomlinson attempted to transfer these rings into his own name two weeks ago, then, 5 hours later announced that the pigeons has been withdrawn from the race.

Although I officially own the pigeons now that the transfer request was blocked by the RPRA due to this issue these pigeons were to be entered into this years race. They have no value to me unless they are in the race. Since Tomlinson has now broken his contract with me by not allowing the pigeons into the race and also tried to transfer said pigeons into his own name I hope the RPRA will understand my situation.

As you have seen from previous correspondence I asked Tomlinson to put the remaining pigeons in to the race in my sons name, which he refused.

Then offering me £2000 and the 7 pigeons that are part of the other complaint was refused by me and I said the minimum I would accept is £4000 and the 7 pigeons.

The reality is Tomlinson could sell those remaining pigeon and that would pay the money I am requesting to finish this issue between us. He also said as part of his reasoning why he wouldn't pay any more than £2000 that he didn't know how many pigeons were remaining. Well he does now, he knows there are 25 pigeons remaining, those pigeons are worth at least £4000 - £5000 in the race as venture birds. Gary himself said on his video on Monday how good the pigeons were.

So to clarify I categorically do not want those pigeons, they are of no value to me and him offering them to me out of the race is breaking his contract that he has many times said he has stuck to.

I really don't know why he is being so difficult about all this. He knows he has 25 pigeons in the race, he could pay me, transfer the birds into his name and sell them.

Regarding the other 7 pigeons complaint I find it interesting that he is offering me the other pigeons, directly going against the contract we have but so far has not given me the 7 other pigeons which are the subject of the other complaint against him.

My position is simple. I will not take the 25 pigeons, I want them in the race, or £4000. I also want the 7 other pigeons which he has now had for 6 months.

We offer 7 pigeons which was sold in the 2019 WDW Auction.

In Return

I should say I am extremely disappointed that you do not value my services at £4000 (I value them at a lot more) and I would also say I am only agreeing to this to end things between us for the sake of my family. If it were left to me only and I had no other concerns for others involved then I would be taking this another route and perusing for the full contract amount. However, like I say considering what happened after our phone call on Saturday night my families sanity, welfare and wellbeing is my primary concern and thats far more important to me than you undervaluing my services and trying to make me sound like Im fooling people. So lets get this resolved eh.

11:17 ✓✓

For the record I have no interest to talking to anyone in your family any further about anything. Lets get this contract deal ended and sorted and finished as above.

12:02 ✓✓

Annette Tomlinson is a 50% share holder in our business
Your demands outside of the monies are not acceptable so no deal.

12:38

what part of my demands outside of the monies are not acceptable to you ?

12:44 ✓✓

Your demands regarding the DVD rights therefore forget it now please leave us alone and stop harassing us.

12:50

the DVD deal is nothing to do with our contract as you quite clearly stated on the call on Saturday. But fair enough if thats how you want to be and play it fair enough. Send those 7 birds I own via walkers tomorrow please.

12:51 ✓✓

I take this above as official confirmation that you are not prepared to honour any contract we had and I will proceed with this as final. I own those 7 pigeons, so please send them, their pedigrees and transfer forms to me via Walkers. Ive wasted enough time with you and this situation and intend to spend no more time back and forth with you.

Your Ref: TO FOLLOW

21 December 2021

Dear Mr Wood

Thank you for your letter dated 16 December 2021.

I believe every case is different and it is down to interpretation of the law and that ultimately it is a decision by the Courts.

Therefore I shall express my opinion on the matters raised in your letter and address your points, albeit from a layman's point of view.

The reason I proposed that particular agreement to Mr Tomlinson instead of being paid in GBP was because Mr Tomlinson stated that he couldn't afford to pay me as he was struggling financially. Therefore I believed that I could offer him a deal that would support him as I really believed in my abilities in turning his race from a mere 700 entries to a 1,500, potentially doubling his net profit. I wanted to help him out. I wanted to make his race the best there is in the UK. I had all best intentions. Anyone reading the contract can see that it's not made to my advantage.

As you rightly point out, I relied upon my "repute in the trade" to realise on payment for the services I provided to Mr Tomlinson as per our agreement. I could argue against your point of "significant gain on the rates you would otherwise obtain", given that you do not know the amount of hours I spent on the promotion and any other costs I have incurred with travel, professional printing of materials, setting up the website, editing etc. As you will be aware, with any promotional activities, most of these are being made before the actual event, to attract interest and participants.

For example, thanks to my connections and promotions, I secured entries from Romania for Mr Tomlinson. For the first time in his seven year race history. These competitors entered Mr Tomlinson's race based on my endorsement and my "repute in the trade", with an estimated total fee received by Mr Tomlinson of £2,700. They didn't know Mr Tomlinson. They knew me and they trusted me.

You also state that I "could have earned even more potentially by selling the birds after the race". This is untrue. Given that once the 30 entries would be sold into the race, they wouldn't belong to me anymore. They would belong to the new owner. It would be their gain if the bird managed to get into the final and returned and got sold, gain which is split 50-50 with Mr Tomlinson. So again, the one gaining out of this is Mr Tomlinson, not me.

So to suggest that I could have made significant gains overall through this arrangement, is not true. I felt belittled by the comment in your letter as it suggested that I was not worth the money I requested.

My relationship with Mr Tomlinson started in early April 2019 when he approached me as he believed I was the right person to make his race successful. Since then I carried out significant unpaid work in promoting his race and also on a personal level, supporting him through his shows in the UK. For example, I did interviews with him on my online show, I put together videos shot with my drone. I did all this for free as I believed in him.

For reasons unbeknown to me, Mr Tomlinson started denigrating me online, around March - April 2020 and he refused to return my calls or any attempt to resolve any potential misunderstandings amicably. He began a sustained online campaign of denigration of my name and my reputation, with posts in which he called me a con man, a fraudster and a liar. He claimed that I tried to "rip him off", a malicious accusation that he never proved. In the end he even stopped using my name and simply called me "the con man".

He shared these posts within several Facebook pigeon groups and generally at any opportunity that he had to bring my name into disrepute.

I have written evidence of his posts, comments, website links and texts, comments I received from people who bought into my syndicate and then withdrew their entries as they believed that the birds would not get a fair treatment given Mr Tomlinson's prejudiced and derogatory comments (including on his live streamed shows) towards me. So to be clear: people were afraid that these 30 birds (which weren't 30 after all, but this is another story) would not get a fair treatment given Mr Tomlinson's hatred towards me. It was his actions that created the unfairness, not mine.

In addition, I received slurs, insults and death threats, all as a result of his public comments about me. From people that never met me or had anything to do with me. All as a direct result of Mr Tomlinson's actions. I have evidence which I will provide if/when required by law to do so.

Yes, it is correct that I proposed as an alternative to enter the birds myself. Mr Tomlinson stated that it was against the race rules, which I wasn't aware of. He did not offer any other alternatives to ensure I received payment for my services.

As an alternative I also asked for my son to enter the pigeons in his own name. He declined it and asked for the full entry fees. He never at any point proposed any alternative that would suggest that he was prepared to pay for the services I had provided.

Mr Tomlinson offered at some point to pay £3,000 but then withdrew his offer (for which I also have evidence). He later offered £2,000 which I refused (June 2020). To me this demonstrates that Mr Tomlinson knows that he has not paid for my work. Therefore I can not accept your suggestion that I 'negotiated and received any payment'.

I tried everything I could to get some form of payment for all the hard work I put in. I think you can understand that the commercial dispute is not as straight forward...

Which takes me to your point about the "company's legal remedy to sue for the debt". My decision not to chase the debt was two fold:

- 1) It didn't make commercial sense to pursue it given solicitor's costs, court's costs that would far outweigh the money Mr Tomlinson's owed me;
- 2) The stress that Mr Tomlinson and his family put me and my family through months on end was not worth it. My family and my health take priority.

I simply chose to walk away. I wanted to draw a line under this matter and move on with my life.

So I disagree with your interpretation of my actions. Simply because I chose to walk away does not entitle Mr Tomlinson to use my work and then demand that I give him the right to the work anyway. My actions (and/or lack of) are not an endorsement to agreeing him to use my work.

In relation to the flyer and your point with regards to consumers "having imperfect recollection and are poor at remembering details unless items are seen alongside one another". Given that the letter doesn't quote the source, I believe this is a personal opinion and not a fact supported by evidence and/or research in relation to entries into pigeon races. Therefore I believe this is a subjective matter. Unless evidenced otherwise, I doubt that people entered any other race in the belief that they entered Mr Tomlinson's because they got confused by a particular flyer. So there is no detriment on Mr Tomlinson's behalf.

I am not prepared to provide you with any contracts or agreements between me and third parties. These are confidential agreements between me and the third parties. If Mr Tomlinson is so concerned that he may be breaking copyright laws, then he should stop using my work. However, given that he's still using these designs publicly after engaging your services suggests to me that he is not "seriously concerned" about breaking copyright laws. As I mentioned before, I believe that my commercial dispute with Mr Tomlinson is not resolved, therefore he shouldn't use my work.

In addition, he appears not to be "seriously concerned" about breaking copyright laws when he's actively advertising DVDs that I produced, with photos and montage that I produced which include my company's logo (as per my CAD letter recently sent) without my permission. So, he is using my work illegally, making a profit from my work, yet he is "seriously concerned" about a flyer.

With regards to defamation mentioned in the last part of your letter and my posting on my website, I include a recent Facebook post by Mr Tomlinson dated 11 December 2021 (copy enclosed), ten days ago. He contacted a total stranger, someone he had never met or was connected to. But someone who had a complaint against one of my employees in 2014. Seven years ago. I thought this example post would be relevant for your records. I'm not exactly sure what Mr Tomlinson is trying to imply there in relation to my attempt at "trying to rip them off" and that I'm telling people that I'm just "a family man". Also, for accuracy of information, I only met Mr Tomlinson in April 2019 and our dispute started in April 2020, so to state that he suffered "3 years of hell" is completely untrue. However, for someone who only reads his statements, this sounds powerful. In my opinion his actions are done with intent and malice. He is actively instigating someone who posted something seven years ago. He is resurrecting the hate whilst stating something untrue.

Another example of false accusations by Mr Tomlinson made public was during a live stream video in October 2021 about my apparent hacking the WDW Auction website although he had no evidence. That video stream is viewed live by potentially hundreds of people and being shared thereafter. His viewers listen to him and take in the hate propagated by him on a live stream. So the potential for damage is immense. Again, another act done with intent and malice, with no evidence of me having anything to do with his issues. Yet, so powerful at instigating hate. I felt the need to address that particular incident, not only because I simply haven't got the skills to carry out what Mr Tomlinson is accusing me of but also to inform him that what he's saying is practically impossible based on the software used. However, do you think my comments would matter to a public that already thinks of me as a "con man", a public that doesn't understand how the internet works but are supporters of Mr Tomlinson...I don't think so. Again, the power of his words in a live stream can not be undermined.

There are many other posts and comments (posted also by his son, Robert Tomlinson, with the most recent dated 14 December 2021) that span from April 2020 to date.

As you can see, there are two sides to every story.

With regards to my recent posting online mentioned in your letter, I removed some of my comments. I hope that satisfies your request. I believe in freedom of speech and I believe that I have the right to discuss this matter publicly based on facts. I decided to put the website up due to the bullying and harassment I received continuously from Mr Tomlinson and his family starting with April 2020. As you will notice, I do not promote the website and I have evidence of traffic to the website, so I can demonstrate that this is my way of simply protecting myself from abuse. Abuse that is still being actively carried out on online media, live video streaming, whatsapp group chats etc reaching out potentially thousands of people.

Yours sincerely

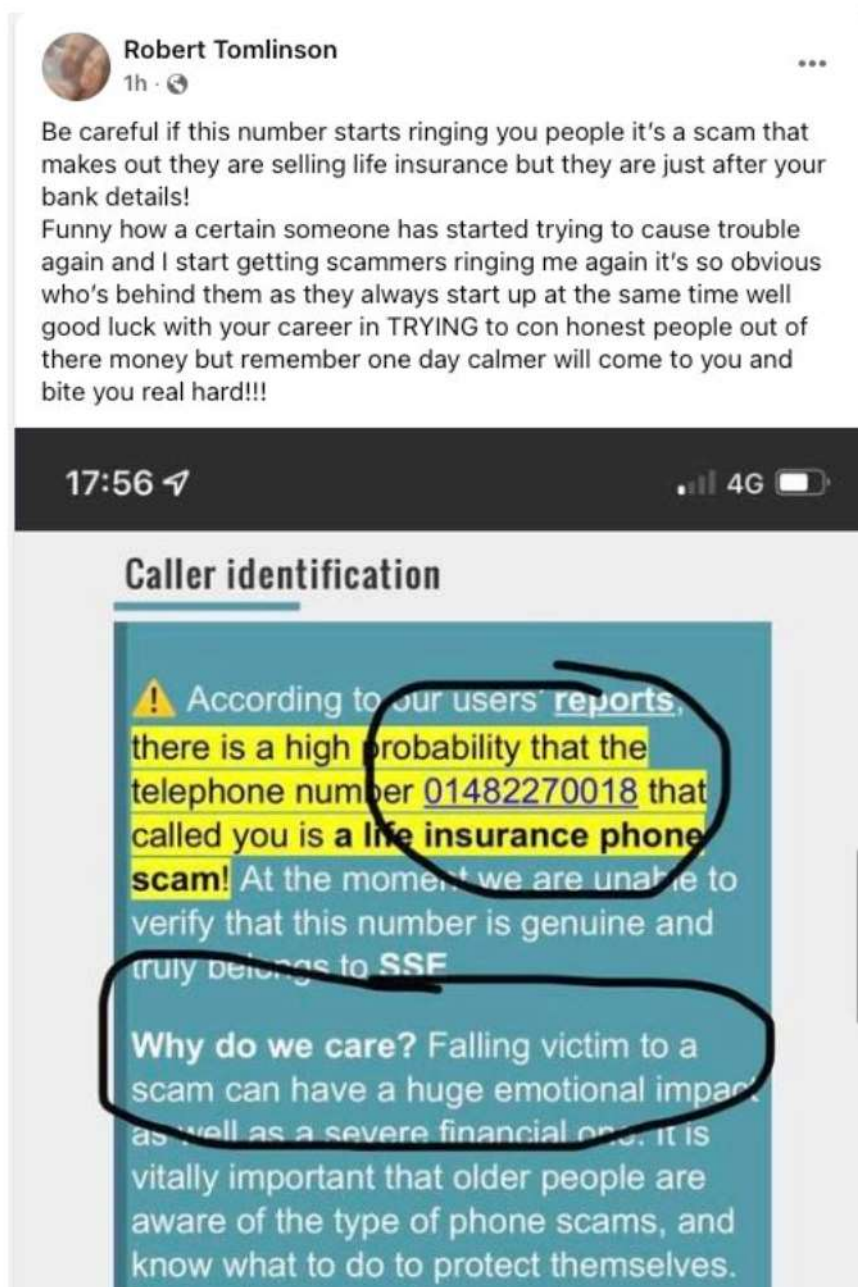

Mark Lyford

A guy called Liam Ward who's all of a sudden become a one loft race loft manager expert. ummmm condemning everything that we've done basically. and first of all I just wanna point out why the entries this year should have closed on 21st April . that was extended by 4 weeks now Liam why was it extended by 4 weeks? (pause) So you have no idea have you? YOU'VE OPENED YOUR MOUTH, THE WINDS BLOWN YOUR TONGUE ABOUT AND A LOT OF SHIT CAME OUT OF IT <.....>

END OF RECORDING FOR THE CASE —————

TRANSCRIPT OF RECORDING OF FACEBOOK LIVE SHOW DATED 4 NOVEMBER 2021:

RECORDING LINK AT:

- Minute 0:59:

So the prick out there or pricks out there which have reported Pete, Grow some bollocks and report everybody else. Let's have the lot shut down. All this is geared at one thing and one thing only. And let's not get beat about the bush here, this is geared at WDW Pete Berry, Gary Tomlinson, Annette Tomlinson and Rob Tomlinson and that's what it's aimed at. it's a personalised attack, there's no doubt about that. And it's started to get personal. you know but Pete's been dragged into it because Pete's onboard with us regarding the auction site and that's the only thing he's onboard with, he's not involved with the race whatsoever, he only takes care of the auction site because I haven't got a clue basically. But again, he's been dragged into something that he should not be dragged into. If you've got a problem with me, Annette and Rob, then keep it between me, Annette and Rob and don't drag other people into it as it's not fair. And as I said before, whichever bastard is out there doing it, you're doing it to one, you've got to do it to the rest.

- Minute 3:20:

there's a little clique that don't like WDW. You can see them on Facebook time and time again and i have to agree with you.

- Minute 3:38

there's a few rats out there yes there is and I bet they're all watching this show, yeah they'll all be under false names.

- Minute 4:40:

At the same time you have a clique which, as Ronald said, are jealous, can't stand you, we've all seen what's happened this year, there's been charts drawn about who lost the most birds, who lost this, who lost that. And as I've said earlier, how can you draw a chart or a graph of what birds got to final, what birds returned form final if some one loft races haven't even complete the race programme, you can't do it, it's impossible. But it was done specifically to highlight WDW that's what it was done to do. Now, instead of people coming and saying ummm WDW is rubbish and all that, they don't. they hide behind graphs and charts and statistics as they say. and half of them statistics have been done by people, who, given the best pigeons in the world, still won't win. If i give them that Mick pigeon, they still won't win coz they can't fly a kite on a windy day. they don't accept that there was major losses all over the UK, Ireland and Europe. It only happened at WDW which is the biggest load of bollocks never no more. but we take it on chin and we keep going. there's no doubt about that.

- Minute 6:20:

No, I'm not getting my boxing gloves out because these people what do write these things and do report people like um as Pete's been reported they haven't got the back bone for that. What they do is they hide behind the keyboard as I said

- Minute 6:40:

I'm not going to mention the name but please tell me if I was wrong in what I did, coz if I was wrong, I'll hold my hands up now and I'll apologise to him. the show is going smooth we'd had a great show at Epsom. all of a sudden somebody out their arm out for me to shake their hand. Which I did. and I shake everybody's hand who puts it out for me to shake it. and I said to him, excuse me but I don't know who you are. Could you tell me who you are, so he told me his name and my attitude changed 90 degrees if you like completely. And I said to him you have no right to comment about WDW if you have no entries in the race. and his reply to me were i had birds in all one loft races. i said no problem with that, if you've got birds in one loft races, you're a competitor, you're a customer, you've a right to complain. but if you've got no birds in WDW you've got no right to complain. You've got no right to ask any questions. You've got no right to make any comments. I said but if you got birds in WDW I'll be the first to hold my hands up and say you have every right to comment, you have every right to ask questions. you have every right to slag me. you have every right to slag me from pillar to post. But if you not got no birds you've got no right at all and all he said to me was it's pigeon racing. I said no it's not. I said it's a business to us, a business that you're trying to damage and I've worked my bollocks off and Annette's gone without, Rob's gone without for 7 years to build this up and we try our best, we try our utmost, we give everything. We show everything, we hide nothing. We've done live liberations, we've done live returning of pigeons, we've walked through the lofts at night time. Nobody else ever does it. Anyway, we've done it. Nobody throughout Europe does it. We've done it. Because we've got nothing to hide. And I wasn't having a toe rag like that trying to wreck everything and it turned a bit sour. To the state where you know I may be should have been more professional but it really turned bad and he had to go before he got knocked out basically. and um that's that. I'm not going to apologise but because I stuck up for what i believe in and I stuck up for WDW and the race which we've created and i just don't think it's fair that people should sit behind the keyboard writing derogatory comments against somebody who's trying their best and as I said to him, go and channel your aggression into charity and raise some money for charity go and do that. but that's me finished with it, that's me finished with that individual and I won't say another word to that individual but i hope we're on a level playing field and we both know where we stand. keep if you're in this race, please enter this race next year, you can comment, you can write whatever you want then because you've the right to do it but if you're not in it, you've got no rights.

WOW that's off me chest thank god. shaun cooper: you got the backing of the WDW family Gary and that's right, we have yeah, we've done a massive following and we've got a good following, got some great people behind us and what i want to make it clear is this <...>

And then obviously you've got you dickheads which are not even in the race coming up with crazy scenarios that the birds weren't healthy before they went, the birds were overcrowded and all this has been done on another social media site, the social media site being Pigeon Chat. and the two people who were fuelling the fire if you like were a guy called Glynn who writes from the cooper man and the big fat one Chelsea alias Shane Langton. Now them two people are the very best friends. so obviously they're sowing seeds for each other. but before starting doing anything you probably ought to look in the mirror. and you know i could go on and on but I'm-not gonna go into it obviously what we're doing is hurting them so you know get on with it. if you wanna continue diggin then keep diggin' but if only the people who think you're a god, MR FAT CHELSEA LANGTON KNEW THE REAL CHESLEA LANGTON I WONDER HOW MANY FRIENDS YOU'D HAVE. EX DOG FIGHTER, REJECTED HIS OWN DAUGHTER COZ SHE WAS DISABLED, BAILED OUT OF PIGEON RACING BECAUSE THEYRE ON TO YA FOR USING MORE THAN ONE CLOCK COULDN'T BUY A PRIZE, COULDN'T WIN A PRIZE, YET IN PREVIOUS YEARS YOU TOOK FIRST TWENTY AND THIRD. TRANSCRIPT OF RECORDING OF FACEBOOK LIVE ABOUT THE RACE HELD DURING COVID

RECORDING LINK AT: <https://rpimedia.net/tomlinson/> (Annex 25)

Minute: 0:05

I'm not gonna bite my lip here because we got a little bit of a downer here. Unfortunately. Last, As you know, I posted some photos on about the final day because when people came to the final we greeted everybody personally, they all signed the register, thank you for supporting us, enjoy the day and treat the place as your own. But adhere to covid 19. that's what we said to everybody who came. Now I posted some photos on social media on our Facebook page of people having a great time and enjoying it. And last week I got an email from amber valley council, the environmental agency department, saying that they watched certain video footage so it's obvious is somebody who chopped bits out of the Facebook live that i did and they saw that at times people weren't adhering to the covid 19. so they needed me to update them on exactly what went of. so in due course i did, um via a message statement, i did via the track and trace that we did, i did via the sanitising stations that we set up, which was 4 of them and we got a glowing reference , which was fantastic for me. so to shove it up the arse of people who thought it were good, to make this complaint to the council thinking that you was gonna get a brownie point for doing it it's backfired on you again, but i was annoyed me more than anything is people from other one loft races commenting on social media and getting involved in who dares wins business again. And all this started by Adrian Moffet who i don't know whether he's THE BINGO CALLER OR IF HE BETTING ON HIS OWN BONUS BALL, POSTED ON OUR PAGE HOW DID WE GET AWAY WITH COVID 19. WHAT HAS THAT GOT TO DO WITH YOU? WHAT'S THT GOT TO DO WITH THE NORTH COAST CLASSIC ONE LOFT RACE? WHAT HAS IT GOT TO DO WITH ANY ONE LOFT RACE? SOME PEOPLE MAY THINK THAT ME N ANNETTE ARE IDIOTS. On the surface we may look like idiots but trust me we're not. When it comes to business we'r clued up and switched on. <....>

COVID-19 secure guidelines

With the exceptions of large sporting events, current government guidelines allow for outdoor events that are organised by businesses, charitable organisations, and public bodies to take place provided they have carried out a thorough risk assessment and taken all reasonable steps to mitigate the risk of viral transmission, taking into account that risk assessment, in line with COVID-19 Secure guidance.

This includes ensuring that social distancing between different households or support bubbles, and between those working at events and customers is maintained.

So what your point then Adrian, cant understand why you need to post anything about our final race you was not there, it was a good day enjoyed by all, it has not effected you in anyway, I dont see anyone complaining at all.

Gary Tomlinson , I asked you a question Gary about the restrictions placed on an outdoor event in England . Restrictions in Northern Ireland are much tighter . The post COVID-19 confirms what you had told me . I personally couldn't have attended as I am classed as vulnerable

To cure viruses is virtually imposible. What i would do straight away I would bang on Domestos. Some will die, some will die immediately. But the ones that are just coming down with it, you got a chance to sustaining it and keeping it at bay and the domestic will help to stop the spread of it and also help stabilising things within your pigeons. I'm not saying it will cure it for one minute but it will give you chance to start working and get other things in place. the domestic will definitely stop any virus spreading its amazing really really amazing so <...>

Important Update, the loft will open 4 weeks earlier than planned, so you can now send birds from 1st February until 24th April, we have done this to try and accommodate some fanciers who bred early for another one loft race which unfortunately is not going ahead.

We have had a good day at the loft to-day, the sliding doors are now fitted to the new trapping area, we do plan to have all the sliding door's fitted in every aviary section by Friday. In just 4 weeks we could have our first birds for the 2022 season in the loft, enjoy the ride everyone.

We do still have some spaces available, if you need to check we have you booked in the please message me.

LES ADAMS A SUPERB SUPPORTER OF WDW RACE

🕒 March 25, 2020

25th March

Hi everyone, another superb day at WDW, the birds were put through their paces then given a nice warm bath, this good dry weather is really bringing them on.

We had a cracking team of three come to-day from the Potteries Syndicate of Neckenders, Les Adams bought the birds to us, Les is the co-ordinator of the syndicate and a superb supporter of our race, early afternoon we had three belters come down from Martin Mitchell in Scotland for the Hawk Dodgers Syndicate, all the birds were vaccinated and rocketed through the traps.

I have been informed by Mark Walker that the No1 in courtering birds is operating as normal however you have to place your booking on-line, we have 10 different lots being delivered to us by Walkers in the morning so its gonna be a very busy day.

Hi David

This is my proposal to Mark Lyford.

This is in no way an admission of guilt or that we have done anything wrong.

We offer £2000.00 in cash as full settlement.

We offer 7 pigeons which was sold in the 2019 WDW Auction.

In Return

Any birds remaining which Mark Owns in WDW One Loft transferring into our name.

Full rights to the DVD including the online version, he must also delete it from any social media site e.g You Tube.

We want a public apology for the accusations made regarding Myself and Robert being involved in the fire bombing of his car.

We want a disclaimer signing stating that we no longer owe him anything and that our business together if finished.

Regards

Gary

Hi everyone, despite the con man offering all my knowledge on racing cock's on the widowhood system for free, we are still having genuine people wanting my DVD,

WHY, simple because you get me questions and answers first hand, anyone taking the free option and has questions ask the con man, he might try and con you into buying you some bit coin cos he knows nothing about pigeons, good luck.

All the con man ever wanted was to build up a data base of fanciers, all you who have took the free option have done is give him your web site address plus much much more remember this man is a Treat your partner, probably the most informative DVDs to come into the sport.

THE SECRETS ARE OUT NOTHING HELD BACK

In January 2020, I launched my Widowhood DVD, this has taken total novices from winning nothing to topping the Federations and more, some taking 8 positions in the first 10 from 4,000 birds. In the Widowhood DVD there is 40 years of knowledge gained from visiting top lofts all over Europe and being very successful fanciers ourselves.

Nothing is held back, many are stating this is the best Widowhood DVD to ever come into the sport.

I have now launched my Young Bird DVD and again nothing is held back, remember we have to take care and produce 1,500 athletes for the Who Dares Wins International One-Loft Race, we have birds coming from many lofts all over Europe with different bacteria. This Young Bird DVD tells you everything.

I guarantee if you follow both DVDs you will win out of turn.

Treat your partner for Christmas, buy both DVDs for £45 including postage, or purchase either for £25 each including postage.

Payment can be made using Paypal Friends & Family, details are: who.dares.wins@aol.com

The finish to the auction has been very disappointing but I will be live tomorrow with evidence of cyber attacks posted one IP address very locsl to us
The RPRA were informed of what we have had to contend with over the last week.
I feel so sorry for Pete Berry because he has worked tirelessly on this auction.
I can only apologise but it shows how far some people will go to try and damage Who Dares Wins
But one thing for sure we will come back better and stronger.

Hi everyone, just a short update because its been a hectic day, I still cant understand why we could not go live through google chrome last night, it keeps saying update but we have the latest version of google chrome installed so maybe some prick has hacked into my PC.

Local fanciers Paul and Rita Holland bought another three outstanding youngsters an absolute credit to Paul, Rita & Duke, they now nine now in the race under different syndicates and all nine were outstanding, I enjoyed a short but good conversation with Paul who lives in the real world and talks sense.

We have had a hell of a lot of interest following the live show last night which topped over 100 viewers, I am confident we will now hit the 1500 bird entry, things are progressing very well taking Who Dares Wins to a different level, thanks everyone for the support, its gonna be some race series.

And as I advised you when our auction was on WDW one loft race and although the site got attacked and the certain person who did this which you'll I'll leave to your own to think who it could be or whatever cost 40 people lots of money. cost us a few quid but it won't about us it was about the 40 people who had birds in them first 40 lots. them people lost money and some lost a good few thousand quid let me tell you now. so ummmm I just find it strange that no other site has been attacked, no one whatsoever, expect for WDW so obviously there is a vendetta there somewhere by somebody or some other person somewhere to only choose WDW to attack and close down and shut down, costing pigeon fanciers not Gary Tomlinson, Annette Tomlinson and Rob Tomlinson, yeah it cost us a few quid but you cost genuine honest people some hard earn money and um I'm sure some of these people won't forget that you know when some lost i know for definite someone lost over two thousand quid. so that's no mean feat. and I can prove that as well.

They'll see through this despicable creature! Snakes like him end up in the gutter where they belong. We only met you last year but see what a great, honest hardworking man you are, giving your all for everyone. You certain have all our support all the way. Hold your head high Win & Sue

TRANSCRIPT OF RECORDING OF FACEBOOK LIVE ABOUT MY DAD BEING A POLICE OFFICER

RECORDING LINK AT: <https://rpimedia.net/tomlinson/> (ANNEX 40)

Minute 0:22:

He was due to pick the birds up at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. As many people know, my father has passed way on the 30th of December and me and me father did everything together, we were like brothers. and every day I'm with me pigeons reminds me of him. and it's tough but life has to go on and i'm not looking for no sympathy. do not give me no sympathy whatsoever, i don't want any. I'm just telling ya as it is. but there are other members of my family as well, me mum. so i sent Mark Lyford an email at 9.30 on Saturday morning stating it was not convenient for him to come and collect the 7 pigeons. because of the reasons I've just explained to you. but he said he didn't get the email. he's got one of those watches that gives you every notification. I've got a video of him openly saying that he spends 99% of his time or most of his time on his pc. SO HE GOT THE EMAIL HE JUST IGNORED IT COZ HE'S MARK LYFORD, HE'S BIGGER THAN ANYBODY ELSE. but what did he do? he turned up mob handed. to pick 7 pigeons up. 4 people from 4 different households. one a martial arts expert. the other a retired policeman and then Zandie. So as they're pulling to my drive, I came out of the house and I said I haven't got the birds ready in fact i was in the next ten minutes was gonna go to my mum's. i said i haven't got the birds ready. he said well we're not leaving without them by which time all 4 came out of the car. So i said I can't catch them now, there's 50 birds in the section, I win't gonna search for your lot to catch them. i was on me own, Annette and Rob gone to the garden centre so i was on me own. so they then walk it must be something like 20 meters 60 foot i would say up to my gate. i never moved from the back door. they walked up to me. all of them. all 4 of them. so then THE OLD MAN THE EX COPER STARTED WALKING ROUND THE COURTYARD LOOKING IN OUTBUILDINGS. I SAID WHAT THE FUCK DO YOU THINK YOU'RE DOING? I SAID TO HIM YOU'D BETTER GETTING BACK HERE AS I COULDN'T SEE HIM COULD BE THIEVING OR ANYTHING WHO KNOWS.SO THEN HE CAME OVER ACROSS TO ME AND SAID well, we'll go and get those pigeons. I said you take one step to go round the back of that building to get them pigeons and I will lose that dog on you and trust me he won't mess around. And Lyford knows this coz the dog won't. so they continued I asked them 12 times to leave to get off my property and then it got heated. and then his dad starts waving a golf club about and he said to me, what's this your offensive weapon? I said you might need that but i certainly don't. so anyway this continued and the king fu man got closer to me. very close. there was only wall between us. but anyway, next thing the land rover pulls in at the gate with rob and Annette and Rob come up the car park to me towards me we walked up together little did i know i can say too much as there's a police investigation ongoing but anyway. rob and the kung fu man ended up with a wrestling match if you like not a wrestling match and i tried to get in between to try to cool everything down and GUESS WHAT? THE CYBER GEEK KID ZANDIE GOT HIS PHONE STRAIGHT OUT AND HE STARTED FILMING EVERYTHING. WHICH I'VE SEEN THE VIDEO, ZANDIE, YOU THINK THAT'S CONSTRUCTIVE, DO YA? SO ALL ROB WAS DOING WAS RESTRAINING THE MARTIAL ART EXPERT FROM ATTACKING HIS FAMILY. NOT ONE PUNCH WAS THROWN. NOT ONE PUNCH WAS THROWN. THEN THE POLICE TURNED UP. AND BY WHICH TIME THEY DECIDED TO GET OFF ME DRIVE. THEN THE THREE POLICEMEN CAME UP TO THE HOUSE AND ASKED WHICH ONE WAS ROBERT TOMLINSON SOMEBODY WITH NO CRIMINAL RECORD. AT THE BOTTOM OF THE YARD WAS A CONVICTED DRUG DEALER WHO SERVED TWO YEARS IN PRISON. PLUS SCAMMING PEOPLE OF MILLIONS OF POUNDS. SO THEY SAID TO MY SON WERE ARRESTING YOU ON COMMON ASSAULT. SO WHY DID YOU WORK THAT OUT? HE SAID SOMEBODY DOWN THERE IS SHOWING AN INJURY . AND I SAID SO IS HE. HIS HAND'S BLEEDING BUT I ALSO SAID THE DIFFERENCE IS ONE OF THEM DOWN THERE IS AN EX COPPER AND I'M NOT. AND YOU'RE ALL PISSING THE IN THE SAME POT. SO THEY TOOK ROB common assault . do you know what time they released him? 1 o'clock in the morning for common assault. and yeah he's been charged as Mr Lyford said so you have got a moral victory but we'll see where that leads. <....>

That's the quickest way to get a refund via PayPal - the system I purchased WITH!!!! - And you as seller do not suffer ANY HARM whatsoever unless the buyer escalates the claim to a DISPUTE. I made a claim NOT a dispute. I've worked with PayPal for 8 years, I know what I'm talking about. You need to read up on PayPal; a claim is NOT a CHARGEBACK.
